Disputes Worst Since End Of War
As Other Walkouts Hanging Fire

By UNITED PRESS

More than 113,000 workers were idled today by labor disputes in the garment, automobile, rubber, transit and iron mining industries.

In addition, 40,000 C.I.O. seamen threatened to refuse to sign for voyages after Friday midnight. Other walkouts impended in the telephone industry.

"Some encouraging progress" was reported in efforts to end a strike by 65,000 A.F.L. International Ladies' Garment Workers against 2,000 shops.

It was the first big strike in 25 years in New York City's biggest industry.

Again Irish Head

Eamon De Valera was elected Prime Minister of Ireland tonight by a 72 to 69 vote over John Costello, who ousted head of Fianna Fail Party in 1948. Till then, De Valera had headed government for 16 years. Five of 14 independents voted for De Valera, others sided with Costello.

Radical Douks Want Site At Adams Lake

VANCOUVER (CP)—Sons of Freedom Doukhobors will ask to be relocated on a site in the Adams Lake district, 100 miles north of Kamloops.

"We want to move as quickly as possible," said Anton Kolesnikoff, secretary to spiritual leader Stefan S. Sorokin. "We must get our people away from the Kootenays."

The Adams Lake district, he said, has sufficient timber for construction needs of a new community, and 3,000 acres on the site could be prepared for farming immediately. Hay meadows are also available.

Decision to relocate the Doukhobors was made following a report of a government consultative committee which investigated Doukhobor problems. The committee will be asked to approve the Adams Lake site and to relay the request to federal and provincial governments.

"It is God's country," said Mr. Kolesnikoff.

Trotting Bill Gets Second Reading

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons today gave second reading to a bill bringing betting on racing and trotting races in Canada under governmental supervision.

The Commons also: 1. Gave first reading to three bills ratifying taxation agreements with France and Sweden, similar to those already concluded with the U.S. and the United Kingdom.

2. Heard the committee on external affairs urge continuation of efforts to relieve famine in India.

3. Learned from Agriculture Minister Gardiner increased defense expenditures have postponed provisions of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act to all parts of Canada this year.

HUNGARIAN FINED $400; ADMITS 'GREAT MISTAKE'

MONTREAL (CP)—A former Hungarian consular official in Winnipeg said today his attempt to bring 264 watches into Canada "was the greatest mistake I ever made."

Customs officials yesterday seized and confiscated the watches, concealed in a trunk brought in by Dr. Louis Szelle from Havre, France. He was fined $400 and costs on a plea of guilty for failing to declare the watches.

"I had no intention of selling the watches in this country, but I now realize I ought to have placed them in bond with the customs division," said the 58-year-old Hungarian.

He said he came to Canada from France on a three-month visitor's visa and expects to leave for South America later this year. He said he had hoped to sell the watches there.

Joined Husband At Korean Front

Mrs. Benita Lasseter, 27-year-old wife of Capt. Matthew Lasseter of the British Northumberland Regiment was all smiles in Tokyo today after it was disclosed she had spent three days with her husband at the fighting front in Korea. She refused to tell how she made her unauthorized trip because she did not want to "kick up a fuss." See story page 11. (AP Radiophoto.)

Increased Off-Street Parking Recommended

Victoria's parking problems of the future will be considerably eased if the first draft of the city's new zoning by-law, calling for increased off-street parking, is ratified, the Victoria Daily Times learned exclusively today.

Theatres, apartments, churches, schools and auditoriums, as well as business houses, constructed in the future, would have to make adequate provision for such parking.

Members of the Town Planning Commission, which by-law in hand, this afternoon completed their tour of the city, taken to study the effects of the new by-law.

The commission, civic department heads and council, however, will all have an opportunity to suggest changes and amendments in the first draft, recently completed by J. L. Doughty-Davies.

If the off-street parking sections are approved, the result will be:

Every church, high school, auditorium, theatre and similar place of assembly will have to provide one unit of parking space for every ten seats provided in the building. A theatre seating 1,200 would require 120 parking spaces.

Apartment blocks, hotels and clubs would have to provide at least one unit of parking space for each two guest rooms or suites.

Parking space would be on the same site of the main building or located not more than 1,000 feet from it.

A sore point with many concerned with parking problems has been erection of 30 to 40 suite apartment blocks with comparatively few garages.

As a result, much needed street parking is taken up. Friday afternoon at 2:30, civic department heads will attend a meeting at which they may discuss the draft by-law and suggest any changes. Mr. Doughty-Davies will also be present.

Still Sift Rumors

PARIS (Reuters)—The case of the two missing British diplomats remained unsolved today as police of half a dozen countries sifted rumors and false tips about their whereabouts.

French police knocked down a report that Carl Strauss, a paid Czech agent, had anything to do with the pair—Guy Burgess and Donald MacLean.

Newsprint Report

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe told the Commons today he expects to make a statement on Canada's newsprint supply position.

Fight Postponed

NEW YORK (AP)—Tonight's 15-round fight between Joe Louis and Lee Savold was postponed until Thursday night because of rain and threatening weather.

Two Prairie People Killed By Lightning

EDMONTON (CP)—A man and a woman living on farms 250 miles apart were killed by lightning within a few hours of each other Tuesday afternoon.

The man was killed in north-eastern Alberta, about 100 miles east of Edmonton; the woman in the Pesame district, near Melville, in north-central Saskatchewan.

Iranian Frontier Patrol Soldier Slain By Russians

British Envoy Warns Of Anti-Foreign Riot Danger

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—An authoritative government source said today an Iranian frontier patrol soldier was shot and killed by Russians along the border east of the Caspian Sea.

The informant said an Iranian military commission was sent to the frontier to investigate the incident, which took place three days ago. He said the Russians reported the soldier was shot because he was found on the Soviet side of the frontier.

There have been a number of clashes between Soviet and Iranian troops in the last few years in border areas.

Incident Boosts Tension

The new incident came, however, at a time of great tension in Iran, where much agitation against all foreigners is being carried on.

The British Ambassador, Sir Francis Shepherd, has just warned Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh that continued Iranian propaganda against Britain may touch off a powder keg of violence against all foreigners in the southern oil field areas.

Shepherd disclosed his warning as top officials of the British-controlled Anglo-Iranian Oil Company prepared to start negotiations, perhaps today, with Iran's government on the nationalization of the company's vast holdings centered at the Persian Gulf port.

From Abadan A.P. correspondent Fred Zussy reported the situation there appeared extremely delicate.

Shepherd said he had told

Employees Ordered To Work

In Abadan, however, Iranian directors named by their government to run the nationalized industry ordered company employees—foreign and Iranian—to continue work as before.

The directors, who have raised their country's flag over the refinery and occupied a small office in the company headquarters, held a highly-secret telephone conference Tuesday night with Deputy Premier Hussein Fatemi following a long and equally-secret conference with the refinery's British manager, A. E. C. Drake.

Armed Iranian guards were posted at the building housing them. Previously the Iranians have appeared to be delaying decisive steps in the take-over until there is indication of what can be expected from the British-Iranian negotiations.

ATTLEE REPLIES

LONDON (Reuters)—A Foreign Office spokesman said today Prime Minister Attlee had replied to President Truman's personal letter urging a solution of the Iranian oil dispute. The text of Attlee's reply will not be published, he added.

A similar letter sent to the Premier Mohammed Mossadegh of Iran was answered by a communication which accused the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company of failing to disclose its true profits and of withholding a reasonable refund to the Iranian people.

PATIENTS WITHOUT CARE; HOSPITAL STAFF STRIKES

SHAWVILLE, Que. (CP)—The entire staff of the Pontiac Community hospital here walked out of the hospital today in protest against the dismissal of the institution's superintendent.

The move left 26 patients and four infant babies without care or service.

Mrs. Irene Benny, superintendent, said she considers she has been fired by the hospital board. The kitchen staff remained on duty until lunch was served and then joined nurses and doctors in the "strike."

Involved in the walkout are about 14 persons, including four doctors.

Mrs. Benny received a second letter from the board demanding that she leave the hospital premises immediately.

Following a protest meeting last night, attended by about 50 residents, the board was advised the strike action would be taken unless a complete investigation was held into the dismissal.

A bulletin signed by four doctors last night said the King was continuing to make good progress, but in view of the attacks of catarrhal infection he had suffered, this year he had been advised that a prolonged convalescence was essential.

During the next few months the King will avoid ceremonies and visits that mean physical exertion. Medical men believe that a summer of rest and sunshine will bring about a big improvement in his health.

Doctors again today saw the King. Later a court correspondent learned it was unlikely he would undertake public engagements during July.

Last night's bulletin said his temperature had been normal for the last week and the inflammation in the lung had subsided.

Says Ex-B.F. Brinks Bandit

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UP)—A 35-year-old divorcee claimed today that her ex-boyfriend admitted to her that he was one of the nine bandits who staged the $150,000 Brinks robbery in Boston.

F.B.I. agents refused to comment here, however, on the statement by Ruth Moore, a chubby carhop.

She said she gave the F.B.I. a 15-page statement about the affair but the G-men wouldn't even confirm that fact. And F.B.I. men at Detroit said they "knew nothing at all" about Miss Moore's story.

At Detroit, the man she named as the bandit, said there "isn't a bit of truth to that story, she just made it up." He admitted knowing Miss Moore but said F.B.I. agents had questioned him, and didn't plan any action.

Possible New Red Lines

Solid arrows show where U.N. ripped into Communists' "iron triangle" in Korea. Sawtooth lines, one anchored on Kumsong, the other on Wonsan on the east coast to the North Korean capital of Pyongyang may be the new lines of defense planned by Reds. Intelligence officers believe one or the other of these lines may be used. (AP Wirephoto.)

'Bouncing Battles' As Beaten Enemy Pursued

TOKYO (AP)—Thousands of beaten communists streamed northward in Korea today as allied task forces roamed over the flat lands north of the "iron triangle."

Allied tanks and men spilled out over the flat lands north of Choswon and Kumwha. They made good advances toward Pyongyang, northernmost point of the triangle. But censors would not permit correspondents to mention the distances.

The big Red withdrawal was in the wild, rugged country east of the triangle. North Koreans sweated up the mountain trails in groups ranging from a few hundred to more than a thousand.

Smaller Red forces covered the retreat. They slowed advancing U.S. infantrymen in "bouncing battles" over the ridges stretching north of the Kwachon reservoir eastward toward the Sea of Japan.

U.N. officers said the only significant action was the Red flight behind the cover of mountain-top defenses.

UNIFORM PATTERN

The mountain warfare followed a uniform pattern, bouncing from ridge to ridge.

United Nations forces attacked. North Koreans, entrenched on hilltops and supported by artillery and mortar fire, halted them. U.N. air strikes and artillery then blasted the Reds. Communists pulled back to the next ridge.

There the same performance was repeated.

The troops gave this type of warfare the name: "bouncing battle."

While U.N. patrols uncovered more abandoned stockpiles at the base of the triangle, planes hampered at Red efforts to drag equipment out of the top.

U.N. planes mounted a total of 1,050 sorties Tuesday, including seven bomb-pocking strikes at seven Korean airfields. They were back at it again today through clouds and rain showers.

Rollback Due On Clothing Prices In U.S.

DENVER (UP)—Government rollbacks on clothing prices will be announced in "a day or so," Michael V. DiSalle, federal price administrator, said today.

"The order will come out in a day or so and will cover all forms of wearing apparel," DiSalle said. "It will provide a base period of three months in the pre-Korea range."

"Manufacturers will be allowed to select the three consecutive months on that basis, and will be granted mark-ups for rises in materials and labor costs."

DiSalle exuded confidence as he arrived in the western cattle country where livestock price rollback orders have brought down the wrath of cattlemen.

He made it plain that the government isn't backing down on the meat orders.

Heavy Rain Predicted

Victorians stand a good chance of getting the first heavy rainfall since May 10 tomorrow afternoon or tomorrow night, according to the weatherman on Gonzales Hill.

A storm forming west of Vancouver Island may bring relief to drought-stricken crops in the area, the weatherman said. The storm would move north-eastward towards the Queen Charlotte Islands and was expected to affect southern Vancouver Island.

Wet weather for a day or two would be welcomed by most farmers and gardeners in the area, as no heavy rain has fallen here for the past three months. The heaviest precipitation was less than one-half inch of rain, which fell on May 10.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

HEART OF ENGLAND

BORDESLEY, Wores.—Since coming here, we have been touring this lovely part of the Midland counties, on the borders of Worcestershire and Warwickshire and verging on to the Cotswold country, and I have been recapturing again its pastoral appeal.

At every turn of the excellent roads that wind their narrow ways between the hedgerows of characteristic grey stone walls, that separate lush fields, up-hill and down dale, you get unexpected vistas of wooded estates and well-kept farms. But equally appealing are the tiny villages, often unspoiled even in these days of the ubiquitous bus, where half-timbered houses and thatched cottages complete a picture of old-world repose and quiet beauty.

TIMBER AND THATCH

AFTER SEEING the endless and ugly row after row of attached houses that line city streets, the "pre-fabs" and great blocks of modern, box-like tenements springing up everywhere, it is refreshing to come across the quaint old cottages and ancient houses that dot this part of the countryside.

At Binton, not far from Stratford-on-Avon, we saw a particularly attractive cottage which dated from the 16th century. Its roof was thatched with long wheat stubble, simple patterns being cut in the thatch along the roof and over the eaves, which overhang the half-timbered, white-plastered walls rather like beetling brows.

BUILT TO LAST

THE PORCH over the door was thatched to match, as was also the old well which stood a yard or two away. Inside the house, walls and wooden roof-beams, black with age, still held fast and should survive for another century or so with proper care, the occupant told us.

I merely mention that one as typical of the "yeoman" cottages that dot the countryside in this part of the world. Some of them date from Tudor and Elizabethan days and, although their walls are often sagging with age and although they are scarcely what you would call "convenient," they have such picturesque charm that they are in great demand.

TUDOR TRADITION

EVEN IF YOU are apt to look upon ancient buildings as so much cold stone, you would have to put aside your prejudices on seeing such a lovely old mansion as Compton Wynlaters, for instance. It is said to be the finest Tudor house in England, and the magnificence of its architecture is enhanced by its setting on a wooded hill, whose giant elms, oaks and horse-chestnuts—the latter alight with their candles of blossom—form a fitting frame.

But, to be truthful, one must admit there is another side beside the picturesque in these ancient abodes. As one aged occupant of a quaint old thatched cottage told me, the birds, especially the wrens, are a nuisance, building their nests in the roof thatch year after year. Worse still, rats sometimes take up their abode.

LACK OF CONVENIENCES

I REFERRED earlier to the lack of conveniences that all too often goes along with the quaint and the picturesque. Just when you are under the spell of the countryside, when the full moon is rising over the hill and scent of the honeysuckle and the hollyhocks fill the air with perfume and the song of the nightingale fills the air with limpid music, some contrary, mischievous sprite whispers in your innermost ear: "All this—and modern sanitation and heating systems, too—could be heaven."

But to comment adversely on such things as our ancestors' primitive notions of hygiene or to look aghast when a fledgling starling with half its nest and a shower of insects fall at your feet through the hole in the thatch brands you as a traitor to the spirit of Old England—and that I could never be, Canadian though I am.

DEATH ENDS ROMANCE

Mrs. Stillman A Suicide

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (CP)—The death of socially prominent Lena Wilson Stillman, 41, has been listed as a suicide by the Westchester County District Attorney, George M. Fanelli. Cause of death was poisoning.

Mrs. Stillman, who came from the Canadian backwoods to Park Avenue society, was the wife of Dr. James (Bud) Stillman, son of the late James A. Stillman, one-time president and chairman of the board of the National City Bank.

The body of Mrs. Stillman, whose marriage into the Stillman's millions startled New York society in 1927, was found Sunday in her bed at her home in Pleasantville, N.Y.

TOTS TO TRY CHANNEL SWIM

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Five-year-old Bubba Tongay and his sister, Kathy, 4, are scheduled to leave today to attempt to swim the English Channel in August. "We don't really expect Kathy to make it all the way across the channel," the children's father, Russell, said today. "But Bubba has a good chance to do it." Bubba swam 22 miles down the Mississippi River last year and Kathy swam 12 miles.

Swear In Dowell

City Clerk M. Frank Hunter will conduct the swearing-in ceremony of Ald. elect Arthur Dowell in City Hall council chambers Wednesday morning at 10:30.

Acting Mayor J. D. Hunter and several aldermen will attend. Ald. elect Dowell will attend his first council meeting June 19.

Church Drops Service Club Blast

OTTAWA, CP—An aroused General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada has erased all critical reference to service clubs and fraternal societies from the report of one of its most important committees.

The assembly, commissioners over-rode the 17-member committee on "Church and Nation" by a two-to-one majority after a vigorous 1½-hour debate late yesterday. They removed the section dealing with service clubs and fraternal orders from the committee's article-of-faith report.

The controversial section declared:

"In so far as such societies make use of the Bible but ignore or obscure its central testimony to Jesus Christ as redeemer, they pervert the gospel and enslave men in human error; to the extent they encourage men into good works which, however, are not done from, in and unto Christ as lord they minister to human pride and vain glory; offering themselves to men as organizations for moral training, fellowship, they deprive Christ of His glory as men substitute them for the church.

"Yet in so far as these organizations so enshrine certain elements of biblical doctrine and morality, their presence in society must be taken as a rebuke to a weak church.

C. M. Pitts of Ottawa touched off debate on the section when he demanded it be deleted.

He told the assembly there was "enough material for earnest consideration of the whole church in the fundamental principles enunciated in this article of faith without stepping outside our immediate province to criticize or appear to criticize—in pharisaical manner the labors of other organizations with the best of intentions."

Miniature Golf Again

NO COWARDS, UNIT PROVES

WASHINGTON (UP)—The army revealed today that the 31st regiment of the 7th Division, accused of cowardice by a navy chaplain, lost more than 90 per cent of its officers in a three-day battle in Korea last November.

The army made the disclosure after making public a letter written by General Matthew B. Ridgway in which the far eastern commander charged that Lt. Cmdr. Otto E. Sporrer "slandered the reputation of many brave and honorable soldiers."

Grand Jury Probes Trespass Shooting

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (UP)—The county grand jury meets today to determine what charges should be filed against Mrs. Margaret G. Ryan, 41-year-old New York society matron, for the fatal shooting of a trespasser on her ranch.

District Attorney Herbert C. Grundell decided to place the case before grand jurors after a coroner's jury ruled the wealthy widow of New York stock broker Basil Ryan was unjustified in shooting 22-year-old Leonard D. Ray, Jr.

Hero 'Hoppy' Grateful; Tries To Set Example

"How does it feel to be the hero of millions of youngsters all over the world?"

"It's the most wonderful gratifying feeling a man could have," said Hopalong Cassidy, known in real life as William Boyd, who is on a six-day visit to Victoria prior to taking a trip to Alaska next week. He is staying at the Empress Hotel.

The six-foot-two, white-haired actor, hero of many cowboy

Hoppy," he said. "It's a dream come true."

Hopalong said he realized he had a great responsibility to the many children and their parents who have taken "Hoppy" into their homes as a friend in his comic strip, which appears in the Victoria Daily Times.

NO BAD WORDS

"I have tried to make 'Hoppy' a plain and simple man, in manner and in dress," he explained. "Big words or 'bad' is not illiterate, nor artless."

said he objected to slang, though in some films he did say "ain't" occasionally.

added, as years went by, it would be better to stop using the word. "After all I felt it imitate 'Hoppy'."

All Shipping May Be Tied Up Again

Second Strike Within Year Could Cut Victoria Off From Mainland

A strike by seamen aboard coastal steamships of the Canadian Pacific, Canadian National and Union Steamship lines loomed today following overwhelming rejection by the men concerned of the companies' second wage offer.

Unless company representatives are prepared to make a new and better offer at further negotiation meetings scheduled for Vancouver, a strike will be almost inevitable.

Company officials today remained mum about their future course of action. The last offer by the three firms would have provided the seamen with wage increases of $13.87 a month with an extra 11 cents an hour for overtime work.

The seamen, bargaining through the Seafarers' International Union, are holding out for a $30 a month raise and a 36-cent-an-hour increase for overtime.

HAVE STRIKE MANDATE

Already provided with a strike mandate by the 800 steamship workers concerned, Dick Deely, S.I.U. business agent and main union negotiator, has stated that if no new offer is put forward by the companies at the next meeting the signal will be given for the men to walk off.

As the seamen come under federal labor laws, there would be now need for a government-supervised strike vote as is the case in most B.C. labor disputes.

A strike by the S.I.U. last year tied up coastal shipping for about two weeks during the fall season and left transportation between Victoria and Vancouver limited to barge and airplane service.

So, if you've harbored the notion that you can't save car dollars without sacrificing performance, look critically at the A-40.

Here's a car that floats you along at top highway speeds, hour after hour, mile after mile, in the restful comfort you've learned to expect from a modern automobile. Here's a car that will slip through the densest city traffic with a new sense of ease. Here's a car that you'll steer with a feather-light touch—a car so finely engineered that you marvel at its mechanical excellence.

Here's a finely appointed car that will save you hundreds of dollars a year. The AUSTIN A-40 gives you everything you want in a fine automobile—except high cost.

Before you buy your new car you owe it to yourself to see, drive and ride in an AUSTIN.

WHEREVER YOU GO... YOU'LL SEE AUSTIN

A Bill To Meet

HAVING HURRIEDLY AGREED TO the principle of a universal old age pension, the Canadian Parliament will take the summer to think over what it has done. In the autumn it will meet again to devise methods of paying the huge costs involved.

If Parliament has thus put the cart before the horse by voting gigantic expenditures without knowing how to provide them, it is equally clear that provincial governments and the public as large still do not fully understand the project on which the nation is now embarked.

The Financial Post, for example, reports that the federal government has begun to worry about the position of the present 300,000 old age pensioners. For them the new pension scheme offers no relief whatever. They will continue to draw $40 a month (with an extra grant which the various provinces care to pay them) as in the past. The new system only extends this pension to 700,000 other persons, many of whom require no pension and some of whom are rich.

When the nation must tax itself by at least a quarter of a billion dollars a year to finance this scheme it can hardly consider any increase in the existing pensions of those who may require more money to meet higher prices. By extending the pension to everyone over 70 we have effectively lost any chance of improving the lot of the present pensioners.

Again, it is quite obvious that the British Columbia government, having long demanded universal pensions, does not know how to finance its share of the new system.

It is relieved of its present contribution to the cost of pensions for those over 70 but must pay half the cost of pensions granted, by means test, to those between 65 and 70. Probably—though no figures have been issued—these two costs are about equal and in themselves do not involve any extra burden on the provincial treasury.

But assuredly if British Columbia is to continue to pay $10 a month above the general pension of $40, and pay it both to those above 70 and the new pension group between 65 and 70, then the extra costs will be very large. If B.C. continues its present practice of giving medical and hospital services to those partially assisted, the costs may become prohibitive. And they will grow as elderly Canadians, assured of a pension in their latter days, flock to the genial climate of this coast.

The British Columbia government, always reckless of expenditures, thus has involved itself in grave difficulties. To cancel its present $10 subsidy to all present pensioners is socially undesirable and perhaps politically impossible. It will be patently ridiculous, however, for the government to pay this allowance to many rich persons who will go on the pension roll next January. To extend this subsidy to any large part of the new pension population will require heavy unexpected expenditures and perhaps increased taxes, on top of the new federal social security tax, yet to be devised.

Mr. Wismer (who lately seems to have assumed the responsibility of announcing government policy) says that a special session of the legislature may be called to deal with the pension problem. In this particular Mr. Wismer probably is right.

The legislature, without any adequate consideration, has approved universal pensions but it certainly has not arranged to meet their cost. Since the new system will go into effect on January 1, British Columbia must make its own financial arrangements long before then. The government has no right to commit the province in these matters—especially in regard to the extension, revision or cancellation of the $10 monthly subsidy—without consulting the legislature. It should meet, like parliament, in the autumn at latest and find out what it voted for and how the bill is to be paid.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

AN IGNORANT man can guess that the Massey Report on Canadian culture is a monumental document but he can hardly be expected to know what it is talking about. What, that is to say, is a national culture?

In Canada, apparently, we do not have one, or at least not a culture distinctive enough for analysis. We have only a lack of culture, which the Massey Commission is attempting to cure. Our neighbor, the United States, has a culture but it is perhaps too wide, vague and confusing to be analyzed.

American culture, one supposes, includes such things as the Declaration of Independence, the Gettysburg Address, Moby Dick, Leaves of Grass, Ogden Nash, Henry Ford, the prevailing polygamy and staggering pectoral spectacle of Hollywood, organized crime, ice cream, television, Miss Dietrich's legs, the Empire State Building, Mr. Joseph DiMaggio, General MacArthur, and Miss Hayworth's former husbands.

ALL THESE things and a billion more make up the vast and inchoate way of life which we call American culture and which the Massey Commission rightly thinks we should not imitate too closely. Since that culture sprawls in friendly fashion across our border day and night it is hard for us to escape. The wonder, indeed, is that while accepting it in externals we have managed to retain, in secret, certain ideas of our own which can grow, if they have the chance, into a truly Canadian culture.

The Massey Commission, I take it, is anxious that our rudimentary culture, whatever it may be, shall have this chance of growth. But the commission doubtless is too wise to believe that the state can provide more than the general climate of growth, for a culture, in a democracy anyway, must come upward from the people. It cannot be pressed downward by the state. Even if it could be, the process would prove too dangerous.

WOULD ANY Canadian in his senses permit the government of Canada, the Massey Commission or anyone else to decide what ideas we shall hold, what manners we shall use, what kind of life we shall lead? In general, and with a healthy instinct, the Canadian people would suspect and revolt against any way of life which the state recommended for it. It thinks itself far better than the state as, one hopes, it is.

Some of the great cultures of the past apparently were shaped by the state and eventually perished under the pressure. The dictators of history, building their palaces with slave labor, subsidizing their artists to work as directed, censoring their writers, could produce the kind of culture they desired, for a while, as Stalin does today. But to an ignorant man it would seem that the development of culture in Britain, and in its offshoots in the United States and elsewhere, has been for the most part a struggle against the state.

TRUE ENOUGH, the British state now and then subsidized artists. It gave Dr. Johnson a pension, maintained William Wordsworth, financed great architecture and lately has been supplying such cultural trappings as wigs and eyeglasses. The supposed achievements of that culture, however, emerged without much help from the taxpayers. Shakespeare, for example, grew wild and uncultivated in the woods of Avon while the state-fed and exotic plants of London never achieved his growth. The largest literary figure of our times, Bernard Shaw, became large and rich by a perpetual feud with the state.

NEVERTHELESS, one can conclude that the several prolific flowerings of genius which successfully created British culture must have found a favorable climate, just as the unique flowering of Athens seems to have sprung out of the right mixture of sunshine, freedom and a brief military security. The state, it may be said, created this climate but in fact it has always been partly the result of temporary geographical, economic and political chances and mostly the result of the character of the people, who never knew the meaning of culture.

In America, the climate does not appear to have been very favorable to culture on the highest levels. It has created an unprecedented culture on the lower level of prosperity and abundance. It has produced a technological culture without rival. It has never created a single exhibit in the higher arts to stand by the masterpieces of the past, a single writer who could match even the second echelon of Britain and Europe.

IT IS PROBABLY true, even though it is generally believed, that America has been too busy for culture on the highest level. An ignorant man may guess, however, that there is more to the process than that. The United States had more culture in some ways when it was younger and busier than it is now.

America began as a population of craftsmen. Every settler must be a master of many crafts to survive. You would suppose that this foundation of craftsmanship, art in the lower echelon, would gradually rear up, as it found more leisure, the higher echelons of genius. But something went wrong.

AS THE machine age arrived the all-round craftsman disappeared and was succeeded by the technical specialist who turned one nut on a gigantic machine. The great rewards no longer went to the artist but to the man who sold his creation. The chief benefactor of this culture is not the craftsman or artist but the huckster. This is a successful market culture, the largest prizes going to the man who knows nothing of creation but knows how to buy and sell. A huckster's culture, the triumph of clever mediocrity.

THERE ARE now signs of a great change. Having mastered techniques, America has time and leisure for something better and may gradually produce it. In Canada one of the hopeful signs is that a nation should appoint a Royal Commission to find out why our culture is so slow to appear.

It will appear, if it appears at all, in its own good time. It will not be established by act of parliament or by that more powerful edict, an order-in-council. Even Mr. Howe, who can do everything else, cannot produce a national culture. Which is just as well.

As Our Readers See It

GOOD WORKS

I would like to use a small space in your valuable paper to answer some of the criticisms of Mr. Joe North in taking up a collection for the crippled children of the Solarium.

I know right well that Joe has a heart as big as a house and he has done a great deal of work and given his time freely to aid and assist such places as the Aged Men's and Old Ladies' Homes, as well as the Orphanage and other underprivileged children in Victoria for years.

I know, as I have put on many magic shows for him at such places as the T.B. hospitals, etc.

I have heard several people remark that if the authorities stopped Joe they would refuse to give any more to any tag day in Victoria. I well remember May 24 a year ago, Joe just got out of hospital, came out in a wheelchair to see to the collections although he was too weak to walk.

As we all know there is none of us perfect, and I say show no prejudice against anyone who does his best in an honest way to make life worth living. I would like to see more of your good citizens visit the Queen Alexander Solarium and see the needs and care of these little tots and the fine way they are looked after.

All I can say is, good old Joe, and we all know the money collected really goes for a great cause. I feel that the greatest advertisement Victoria could have is a well-cared-for crippled children's hospital, such as Canada's most beautiful city can be proud of. I have been visiting them and putting on little magic shows for them for the last 30 years, so know whereof I speak.

POLITICAL BASIS?

So the cost of having babies is going up, too! I refer to the increase in medical fees announced by the B.C. College of Physicians and Surgeons. It is now going to cost at least $25 more to have a baby and I'll wager no one will argue the point.

Hospital insurance premiums were raised $3 for a year—and the whole province went into an uproar.

I'm not opposed to the doctors' raise on principle—it was made necessary because of the same thing which caused H.I.S. premiums to increase—the spiraling cost of living. What I'd like to know is why does everyone make such a fuss about Hospital Insurance premiums when they accept the rise in cost of food, electricity, wages and everything else?

Seems to me there was more than a little political opposition at the base of it all.

CLYDE BEATTY VISIT

It was indeed distressing to many to note in the press that Clyde Beatty is billed here for some time in July. What is the matter with the City Council permitting a "man," such as he, who has been convicted of cruelty to animals in the United States, to have any space at all in a city that we take pride in calling "the most beautiful city in Canada?" Surely this same city is not so hard up that it must accept money made out of the wanton abuse of wild creatures.

IMMATURE MINDS?

The judgment Mrs. Sherman passes on Paul, Augustine, Calvin and Luther is truly astounding. Immature minds! And the reason? Because they believed in immortality. Surely not many would care to take this attitude of intellectual superiority so frankly. She denies professing omniscience but then says, "I know that all is knowable."

Her argument concerning immortality is that this is an unreasonable idea. As a Christian believer I would use the word unreasonable in a different sense meaning that it does not lie within the province or scope of our natural reasoning powers to prove or disprove immortality. Science, that is accreted human knowledge, can say nothing concerning it nor bring any evidence either for or against it. All it can truthfully say is "We do not know."

For The Future—No Flexibility

By WALTER LIPPMANN

AS one day follows another in these Senate hearings I have come to think that the advocates of nudism may be right when they say that people soon become used to it and wonder why they ever wore any clothes. In a few short weeks we and all the world have learned to take it for granted that a man can go without blushing at all that it is quite proper, some even say patriotic, to summon the military and civilian leaders of a nation at war, and then to proceed publicly and officially to strip them naked.

Having gotten used to the idea that such an incredible thing as we have been witnessing could happen at all, I have now found something else to marvel at. It is what a high opinion some of the Senators have of the human mind. There is nothing, they seem to think, that cannot be known so certainly that it is sinister to think differently, or even to be a little less-certain than they are.

One of them, for example, whom I shall call Sen. Smith in order not to identify him, is proceeding on the whole truth about American relations with the Chinese revolution, and that he knows not only all that has happened but also what should have happened.

FIXED POLICY

But that is only the half of what Sen. Smith knows. Sen. Smith's confidence in the human mind is so great that he is trying also to exact public pledges, with all the 's' dotted and all the 't's' crossed, of what the United States government will do and will not do in the future about China, Korea, Japan, etc., etc.

If Sen. Smith were not so respectable, and so very well-meaning, his belief that he can remake the past and fasten down the future would not be so important. But in a Senator with such high moral principles and so much influence, who has had some practical experience in international affairs and has even taught school about them, it is alarming that he should have none of the humility which is the beginning of wisdom. Did he have any of that humility he would not be doing so solemnly and earnestly what is inherently absurd and impossible.

INFLEXIBLE

Sen. Smith's passion about the past is, of course, moved by his fear that the same men will make the same mistakes in the future. He is determined, therefore, that in these hearings he will nail them down, he will sew them up, he will lash them fast, so that they cannot make any more serious mistakes ever again. If Sen. Smith could do all that he is trying to do, he would now obtain from the Secretary of State a script of everything that the United States government will ever say for the next five years on the subject of China, Korea, Formosa, Japan and the United Nations. This script, having been fully debated and edited by the Senate in open session with television added, would then in its final form be recorded on discs and deposited at the F.B.I.

Mr. Acheson would then resign, and no one would need to be appointed in his place. If, unhappily, it ever became necessary again to stoop so low as to discuss the future of anything in the Far East with any other government, the appropriate disc would be brought out of the F.B.I. and played on the steps of the Senate Office Building. In this way Sen. Smith would be able to feel that he had done everything that needed to be done to fix the future.

Cariboo Trail—Via The P.G.E.

(This is the sixth of a series.)

By STUART KEATE

SQUAMISH—The P.G.E. has been called a lot of names in its time. Here are a few:

"Please Go Easy."
"Past God's Endurance."
"Prince George-Eventually."

Now a new one has been added. The wife of general manager Jack Kennedy calls it "Pa's Greatest Effort."

And it is. The 68-year-old railwayman, who ran the E. & N. for 18 years, accepted directorship of the line on a "do or die" basis. As soon as it is completed, he wants to step out and return to his garden in Victoria.

Kennedy is a chatty, cheery little guy with the mind of a shrewd railroader (49 years with the C.P.R.) and the heart of an old-time vaudevillean. Somebody on this trip asked him if the C.P.R. intended to buy the P.G.E. Jack said it "wouldn't be diplomatic" to answer that one, and that reminded him of a story: the difference between a diplomat and a lady.

"A diplomat," said Jack, "is a man who says yes when he means maybe, and maybe when he means no; and if he says no, he's no diplomat."

"A lady is a woman who says no when she means maybe, and maybe when she means yes; and if she says yes, she's no lady."

"So it wouldn't be diplomatic for me to answer that question."

OUT OF RETIREMENT

Jack Kennedy retired from the C.P.R. in April, 1948. Four months later he was drafted to take over the P.G.E.

He signed a two-year contract. Recently, when it expired, the government sought to renew it, but Kennedy would agree only to a month-to-month deal.

"That way," he explained, "you can fire me if you feel like it—and I can quit when I want to."

Probably no other railway chief on the continent has a comparable job. In addition to presidential duties, he acts as business manager, bosses freight, purchases equipment and does his own public relations. His only concession to the dignity of office is a black Homburg, which seems to suit him about as well as a baseball cap would look on a Tibetan lama.

In his first two years in office, Kennedy effected 20 savings worth $500 a month apiece. He went out and bought six Diesel engines—and told his directors about it afterwards.

He ranged up and down the line, preaching the gospel that the P.G.E. must be completed, or B.C.'s heartland business will flow north and east to Alberta. He pepped up morale. When an agent for "Who's Who" called on him, Kennedy said: "Get a biography of Bill Schwartz, our section hand. He's the most important guy on the line."

Today Kennedy and his able assistants, Bill Stewart and Ralph (Hopalong) Chetwynd, are on a first-name basis with each one of the 450 employees and their families.

NEED STEEL

Most important, of course, Kennedy had the backing of Premier Boss Johnson and his colleagues for completion of the line. The premier is convinced that the P.G.E. is an essential supply line, a vital artery which will pump the economic life-blood of central British Columbia to all parts of the world.

During the Board of Trade trip, Kennedy got newspaper reports that a shortage of steel might postpone the Squamish-Vancouver link "indefinitely."

"We'll get the steel," he said. "The P.G.E. is rolling. A little thing like that isn't going to stop us."

(Concluded tomorrow.)

Sloan Formula—Something's Been Added

SOMETHING MORE THAN THE

Rand formula has been applied in Chief Justice Gordon Sloan's mediation board findings on the disputed issues of Trail's Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company's plant. By the board's ruling the allegedly communist-dominated International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, local 480, has received authority to collect $2 monthly from all workmen, whether or not they are members of the union or sympathize with its aims.

Admittedly Mine-Mill will benefit financially from the decision. But to assume that the mediation board has followed the Rand formula and nothing more is to ignore a highly important feature of the findings. Of major significance is the condition that all who pay the $2 monthly—and all employees concerned must meet—that change—will have the right to vote for local officials of the union. That means that employees, subject to check-off, have the opportunity to say who will direct their affairs. Under the plan, they cannot be excluded from voting merely because, averse to union policy in general or in certain particulars, they decline to assume full membership.

If the decision of the mediation board seems to some people to be based on the Rand formula, they will see, at a second glance, that something has been added. It is not the Rand formula by itself. The supplementary clause has changed it in a material particular into the Sloan formula.

At Trail the United Steelworkers of America have tried to supplant Mine-Mill, using the argument that Mine-Mill is subject to Red leadership and pointing to the communist who calls himself Harvey Murphy as proof of that contention. That previous Steelworkers' organizational drives have drawn support, though apparently not enough, from the working forces at Trail indicates the existence of a strong anti-Murphy faction at the smelter. The findings of the mediation board obviously are a blow to Steelworkers. On the other hand they give those workmen who oppose the leadership of Mine-Mill a chance to change it, though meanwhile they must help to finance it.

Under the Sloan formula, it seems reasonable to expect that those who do not like Mine-Mill as now constituted, and who will have to pay dues, can work to bring the personnel of the union leadership closer into harmony with their point of view. It's up to them to see that their men are elected. The formula is there—a formula that applies to union politics the historic right embodied in the slogan "No taxation without representation." The taxation in this instance, of course, is the compulsory payment of dues. The representation could come from the votes of those entitled to mark ballots for local officers.

Very Thin And Brittle

NOW AND THEN THE THOUGHTFUL democrat is confronted with a stray wisp of news which makes him wonder about the future of democracy. Such an item—small but significant—tells us that an unhappy youth stood on the upper ledge of a Boston hotel the other day and hesitated to throw himself into the street. As he wavered between life and suicide a crowd collected and began to chant, "Jump, jump, jump," just for the fun of seeing a fellow human destroy himself.

"What," asks the Christian Science Monitor, "lies behind the craving for sensation that can turn a crowd of ordinary Americans into a mob of callous brutes?" Many things lie behind it, including thousands of years of barbarism preceding the present brief moment of civilization. We emerged only yesterday out of the caves and the trees. The veneer of orderly life is still very thin and brittle and it sometimes breaks under slight pressures, like the sight of an attempted suicide.

Democracy, as The Monitor reminds us, is based on the assumption that men will respect one another's worth and dignity—a very large assumption, valid in only a handful of nations. It is founded still more deeply on certain spiritual assumptions which democrats must accept or admit that their whole system is invalid and must eventually perish. Americans who scream for the self-destruction of a fellow human reject both assumptions, whether they know it or not.

The mob in Boston was only a small fraction of the American democracy. In the end the democratic state, through the agency of a police officer, rescued the youth before he jumped. The mob was disappointed but nearly all Americans were relieved. Probably when they went home and read in the newspapers what they had been doing the members of the mob were properly ashamed of themselves and became good citizens of a democracy again.

Still, the civilization which men have erected through 5,000 years of effort remains thin, brittle and easily broken by external or internal pressure.

The pressure which chiefly alarms us at the moment comes from the outside, from nations which, for all their modern machines, remain barbarous at heart. That danger we can meet if we have to.

The larger danger which we too often disregard comes from the inside, from democrats who, at the sight of blood, can suddenly become barbarians and who, under pressure, are always ready to destroy the democratic system by one means or another, invariably in the name of saving it. People who urge a maddened youth to jump are telling democracy to commit suicide and are near to moral suicide themselves.

Bravo, Mr. Coburn!

WE SEE BY THE WIRE SERVICES that Charles Coburn, the actor, has been arrested for playing $2 draw poker with some writers and producers at the Players Club in Hollywood.

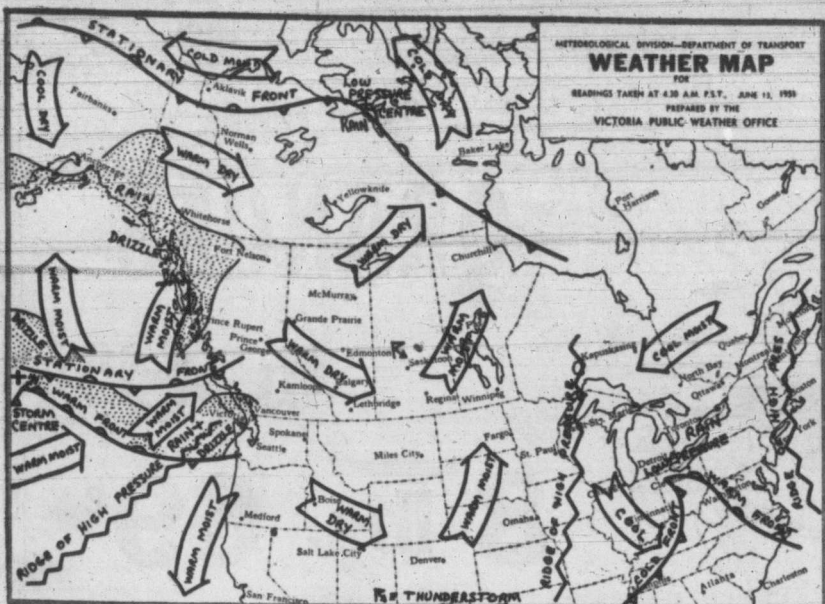

That Mr. Coburn—the benevolent, benighted delinquent of fox grandpas—should be arrested at all is shocking enough. But that he should be "seized" (as the agencies put it) for playing a little innocent poker in a game that has been going on for four years, is an outrage. If the celebrated Thanatopsis Literary and Inside Straight Club were still in existence, it could be expected to take this act before the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Mr. Coburn, gallant fellow that he is, told reporters that he intended to go on playing poker "even if I have to play in jail." He went on to say that he and his card partners belonged to "the healthy 90 per cent of the population who follow their constitutional right to pursue happiness."

To which we say: Amen. (In the next deal, Mr. Coburn, leave us have the one-eyed Jacks wild.)

Ask Right To License Trust Firms

Four resolutions, including one calling for licensing of trust companies, were discussed by Victoria delegates to the annual meeting of the Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities in Nanaimo City Hall today.

The resolutions, however, were taken, not for action by the island group, but for information. They will be brought to the annual Union of B.C. Municipalities convention in Harrison Hot Springs in October.

The second resolution deals with exemption of church property from taxation. Where an application for exemption is made, Victoria feels the applicant should be responsible for the cost of plans.

The city also wants to see a 60-day deadline introduced in the question of beginning of arbitration and wage proceedings.

The resolution asks that all proceedings start not later than 60 days before April 15.

Also sought is an amendment to regulations whereby even a minor claim for damages against a city must be made within 10 days of the alleged accident.

HOME GARDEN

by Hilda Beasall

Plants which spend all their lives in pots frequently survive in spite of neglect rather than flourishing from the care they receive.

Once their owners realize the result in improved health, they are quite willing to spend some extra attention on them.

Frequently, a pot plant is brought to the greenhouse by a home gardener who has "had it for years"—and now wonders why it doesn't seem to be doing well.

In most cases, the plant is carefully tapped out of the pot for examination. This usually shows a root-bound condition, with fine dry particles of sandy soil the only medium left as nourishment for the roots.

In the restricted area of a pot, any plant should receive additional feeding during its growing season, even though it is reported each year. In cases where repotting is inconvenient, the addition of fertilizer becomes essential, for it is the only means of sustenance the plant receives. The soil will have become worn out, depleted of all soluble parts, and watering alone will not keep the plant alive very long.

There are complete fertilizers which the home gardener uses for his outdoor plants, and by following instructions the same may be used for pot plants. Better results are obtained by using a small amount often, than a large quantity at one time. Always water it well in, or use in liquid form.

As a general rule for pot plants, those which make rapid leafy growth and flower require more frequent feeding than those of slower habits. Most of the cacti and succulents need only a little bonemeal in the soil at potting time.

Let the natural growth habits of the plant be your guide.

Bombard Mayhew With Aid Requests

Fisheries Minister Says Split In Halibut Season Already In Force

OTTAWA (CP)—Fisheries Minister Mayhew held court in the Commons Tuesday and was the target for the customary barrage of requests from members for aid for their ridings.

He told the House, among other things that:

1. He is confident something will be done to halt the killing of young seals off Newfoundland by Norwegian hunters in the spring.

2. The United States has not yet replied to proposals for revision of the Canada-U.S. treaty on halibut fishing off the Pacific coast.

3. The Fisheries Department is going to make it tougher on poachers of lobsters and other fish on both coasts.

Repeating to a question by Maj. Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C. (P.C., Nanaimo) the Victoria minister said the halibut fishing season on the west coast already has been divided into two seasons as requested by fishermen, with one area set aside for fishing with no catch limit for a period of ten days.

A C.C.F. move against possible higher freight rates was ruled out of order while the board of transport commissioners was hearing a railway application for a new 15 per cent increase.

The attempt came on a motion by Hazen Argue (C.C.F., Assiniboia), which would have put the Commons on record against any further rate boost until it has dealt with expected government legislation for the country-wide equalization of rates. Speaker Ross Macdonald ruled it out on the ground that the issue was before a court, the transport board, and therefore sub judice.

The Commons heard further argument over Postmaster General Rinfret's proposal to increase postal rates for newspapers and periodicals, eventually approving the higher charges.

By a vote of 136 to 30, it defeated a motion by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, to delay approval of the rates until the newspapers had had a chance to present their case. Then it gave third and final reading to the measure, which also reverses the Post Office Act generally. It now goes to the senate for ratification.

SNAGS SWAG, SWIMS OFF

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Police arrested a hotel life-guard yesterday for breaking into automobiles and then swimming off with the loot. James Bunch, 22, of Miami, would swim from the hotel where he was employed to one of the streets ending at the waterfront, break into a parked car, and then swim back to his post with the loot.

Teen-Agers Die

TORONTO (CP)—Two persons died early today in a fire that swept a dwelling on east-end Carroll Street. Eight others escaped, four by leaping from upstairs windows.

Firemen recovered the bodies of Ambrose Merrick, 18, and his brother, Gordon, 13. They had been sleeping in an upstairs bedroom.

INDIAN HEAD, Sask. (CP)—Gus Eichel, confined to a hospital bed, has at least two visitors every day. They are his two dogs who place their paws on the window sill to greet their master and see how he's getting along.

Cities Responsible For Residents In Air Raids

Health Minister Tells Mayors Ottawa Will Provide Much Of Material Needed In Defense

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Health Minister Martin says Canadian municipalities will have to do the job of caring for their citizens in the event of bombing raids, but the federal government will provide much of the equipment needed for civil defense.

The Federal Minister under whose jurisdiction civil defense now falls told the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities Tuesday night the federal government will help the provincial authorities to plan and coordinate organization, but the municipalities are considered the best able to do the actual work of protection.

Mr. Martin said the federal government will provide an advance warning system, one-third of the cost of materials to standardize hose coupling, and radiological and technical instruments and clothing for civil defense workers.

It will also make available stirrup pumps, stockpiles of medical supplies, instruction courses, training aids, manuals and badges for civil defense workers. It will protect communities against sabotage and will supply information to the public about civil defense requirements.

Firecracker Blamed For Vancouver Harbor Blaze

VANCOUVER (UP)—A firecracker allegedly thrown by a Portland Oregonian newspaper carrier was blamed for a spectacular harbor fire that destroyed several small boats, damaged buildings and injured one man here last night.

The fire destroyed 21 small craft worth $15,000, damaged an office building and partly burned a Vancouver parks board shed.

Chet Hambleton, employee of harbor boat tours, said four carrier boys on holiday were firing firecrackers in the Coal Harbor yacht basin here.

A firecracker carelessly thrown landed in the gas-laden scuppers of a small inboard boat, and began the blaze, Hambleton said.

Destroyed were three row-boats, 16 inboard motor boats, and two 16-foot power boats, fire department officials said.

R. W. Hastings, owner of harbor tours, who lost 19 boats, said "The fire just about finishes my business this year."

Ruhr Factories Forced To Buy Back Own Coal At Triple Selling Price

DUESSELDORF, Germany (AP)—Ruhr industrialists claim the allies are forcing them to export so much coal they are forced to buy back their own fuel—at almost three times the original price—to run their plants.

The Ruhr chiefs complain this enforced export of their coal is wasting millions of dollars a year.

Much of it, they claim, comes out of the pockets-of-the American taxpayer.

American officials privately admit the Germans have a point.

"Their coal exports are pretty high," one leading U.S. official said. "Something will have to give soon."

He also agreed the Germans should be allowed to charge more money for their coal.

Here's how the Germans describe their plight:

Every three months 6,200,000 tons of Ruhr coal must be shipped to other European countries at a fixed price of 43 marks ($10.23) a ton.

This is compulsory. The six-country Ruhr authority tells the Germans how much coal they must export, where it shall go and how much they can charge for it.

After shipping out this coal, the Germans haven't enough left to cover the needs of their iron and steel plants and other industries.

So, they have to buy foreign coal at 120 marks ($28.57) a ton. The Ruhr chiefs claim that some of this "foreign coal" is actually German coal, which is being re-sold by European dealers to Germany at a big profit.

The U.S. is footing much of the bill for West Germany's economic recovery. Gift dollars help cover Germany's trade deficit, since the Germans are not earning enough by their exports to pay for all their essential imports.

Seek Support Of Protest On Ont. Housing Scheme

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A maverick uprising against a new housing plan proposed for Ontario will seek support of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Reeves today in a move to delay the plan's implementation until it can be discussed more fully.

Mayor Arthur J. Reaume of Windsor said he will put a resolution before the federation's annual convention here asking it to appoint a committee to meet with a group of Ontario mayors and the federal and provincial governments.

The fiery Windsor mayor said his motion is backed by about a dozen mayors whose communities are vitally concerned with housing—and with the plan announced here Monday by Premier Frost of building 5,000 low-rent houses in Ontario through joint financing of federal, provincial and municipal governments.

PLAYING POLITICS

Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar charged the three were "playing politics instead of getting houses for the people who need them." The charge was returned in kind by Reaume, after Mr. Dunbar and Mayor Eddie Sargent of Owen Sound engaged in a shouting battle in a hotel lobby.

The rump complained that municipalities weren't consulted in the deal.

Mayor Reaume said the plan wasn't big enough.

The scheme should be administered by the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, the Federal crown company, instead of leaving local governments to bear the weight of determining who should get homes, it was claimed.

Views Of Sport

By RED SMITH

SOUTH FALLSBURG, N.Y.—Lee Savold, who is the 'heavyweight champion of the world if you see it with a cockney accent, was relaxing in front of the television set in the Nemer-Hotel, the hospitable blintz quarry which well-read fist fighters call the Ralph Waldo Emerson. This was the evening before Mr. Savold was to visit New York and expose his rose-and-ivory torso to the stares of boxing commissioners to prove that he was fit to fight Joe Louis in the Polo Grounds tonight.

This battle for the heavyweight title of the Townsend Plan. In the year's calendar of sports events, it is distinguished as the Maturity Stakes. It is a contest to select the Best Preserved Public Figure in America, excluding Bernard Baruch, Fanny Ward and Connie Mack.

It must be confessed that the 'heavyweight champion of the world' looked fit, Lee Savold is a big, pink bloke, although hardly so big now at 190-odd pounds as in his younger days when he was a barkeep and bouncer whose liquid assets enabled him to scale 260 pounds. He is an amicable cove with the marked gentleness of manner characteristic of so many fist fighters, who are mostly friendly guys who never hit anybody except for money.

Lee Is Good—At Grinning

On the television screen, a heavyweight named Clarence Henry was whacking a heavyweight named Omelio Agramonte, knocking him down from time to time. Savold watched with mild interest, making an occasional comment.

"He'll knock him out this round," he said after Henry floored Agramonte in the fourth. Henry didn't. "There he goes again," Lee said when Agramonte was staggered in the fifth. Agramonte didn't go.

"Look," said one of the several newspaper men visiting the camp, "if this is the best you can do as a prophet, why should we ask your opinion of the Louis fight? You haven't been right yet."

Savold grinned and shrugged. He is very good at grinning. He is also very good—or, at least, he has been—at jabbing and feinting and he can punch some. It is not inconceivable that he might faint Louis into knots, jab Joe's face out of shape and possibly even punch him back into retirement.

Savold grinned and shrugged. He is very good at grinning. He is also very good—or, at least, he has been—at jabbing and feinting and he can punch some. It is not inconceivable that he might faint Louis into knots, jab Joe's face out of shape and possibly even punch him back into retirement.

Some Last Longer Than Others

"But," a guy said, "you are as old as Joe, give or take a year. If you believe that Joe has lost his reflexes, what makes you think you haven't?"

"It's the way a guy's made," Lee said. "Some last longer than others, is all. When some begin to go, they go all at once, inside a few months. Joe has lost it. He can still punch. I mean, he can still throw one good punch. But he can't put punches together the way he used to."

"And you?" he was asked. "You've had two bouts with Bruce Woodcock in two and a half years, and that's all. How sharp can you be?"

"Lay-offs never bother me," he said. "I've come back off some long lay-offs and made some of my best fights then. I don't know why. It's just the way it is."

He rambled on, reminiscing, talking slowly, meandering back through the years to his boyhood days in Canby, in western Minnesota. When he was 15 there was a barber in the town who knew the kid was interested in boxing and one night, needing a substitute for a boxing show at a country fair, the barber put Savold on and he won.

World Champion—Mayfair Style

After that he went off with tent shows, fighting all-comers in carnivals and country fairs. This, in itself, is a switch. Most carry fighters are washed-up old pros in the last stages of their decline. Savold came into the industry by the route which others take out.

He told of later days, of working in a St. Paul livery stable and training in the gymnasium run by his idol, Mike Gibbons; of the many fights—hundreds, he estimated—in tank town so obscure their names don't appear in the record books; of his times in semi-retirement, when he got soft and fat and then, getting a chance to make a few bucks, whipped himself back into shape.

And finally there came the English adventure, the knockout victory over Woodcock, recognition as the world champion Mayfair style, and merry days riding to the hounds with the sportin' huntin' set. "They thought I'd fall off a horse," he grinned. "Me that rode before I could walk." He surprised people. Not for the first time. Not necessarily for the last.

'Y' Track Squad Looms As Pre-Meet Favorites

The Y.M.C.A. track team should prove to be poor hosts at their centennial twilight meet to be held on Victoria High School's new cinder track Tuesday night at 7.

On the strength of their victory over other teams in the B.C. championships at Nanaimo last Labor Day, the team is favored to repeat, and should carry home the open men's championship.

Probably their chief threat will come from the newly organized Northwest Track Club from across the border. From Vancouver Olympic Club should be hard to beat.

Heading the northwest team will be U.S.C.'s sensational freshman runner Jim Lea, of Seattle. The blond ace is hailed by U.S.C. coaches as another Jesse Owens. He is already rated among the top six low hurdlers in the U.S., placing fourth in both the Compton and Coliseum invitational relays recently. This makes him probably one of the top six of the world as the U.S. has long dominated the hurdling world. His sprint marks set this year as a freshman at Southern California erased those held by the great Mel Patton, holder of the world's record for 100 and 220 yards.

Teamed with Lea will be school teammates Lloyd Jepson and Bob White. Jepson will be entered in the half and White the sprints. Another of Lea's northwest team who will bear watching is Don Kane, number one freshman sprinter at the University of Washington this spring.

Heading the list of runners for the Olympic Club, the "Y's" other big opposition team will be Ez Henniger, Olympic and Empire games ace. Along with him will be U.B.C.'s top miller Bob Piercy and jumper Doug McLeod.

Local hopes for the men's championship rest with Olympian, Cliff Salmond, captain of the "Y" team; Don Wilson, pole vaulter and high jumper; Rafael Duke in the sprints along with teammate Bob Hutchinson, and Gordie Pynn, who will run the century and possibly enter the broad jump. The "Y's" top junior men will be entered from their own high schools for this meet.

Tierney, Brkich Give Up 14 Bases On Balls

Fourteen walks and four errors. That was the whole story last night as Victoria Athletics were dumped rudely by Spokane Indians, 9 to 3.

John Tierney took to the hill for the A's in search of his third straight win but gave up six runs in the first two innings on only two hits—a pair of errors and six free passes helping to give Indians their advantage.

A's got one back in the third when Don Pries flied out deep with the bases loaded after three straight singles. Pries drove in the other two runs with singles in the fifth and sixth.

John Brkich relieved Tierney in the second frame and gave up five hits and three runs, one of them unearned, in going the rest of the route.

ROBINSON TO REPORT

Lillo Marcucci went behind the plate last night, Milt Martin having been sent to Portland in the player shuffle. Gene Thompson filled in at third but it is expected that Jimmy Robinson, former Vancouver Cap infielder, will report today to bolster the makeshift infield. The A's play the Indians again tonight and tomorrow night, returning home Friday with the Indians.

In other W.I.L. games, Vancouver Capitanos closed up the first division by losing 4 to 1 to Tri-City. Their loss moved Spokane to within three games of the front running Caps. Bob Costello held his former team mates to eight hits in recording the win for the Braves.

BARTLE HELPS

Dick Bartle, former Athletic, drove in two Salem runs as the Senators dumped Yakima, 7 to 2. The teams picked up a total of 25 hits.

Tacoma Tigers dropped deeper into the league cellar, bowing 9 to 5 to Wenatchee.

'Viduals Win Ninth In Row

Individuals of the Women's Softball League scored their ninth straight victory last night to maintain their first place league standing. North Saanich Athletic Club were the victims of the Individuals' 6-3 win.

'Viduals scored all their runs in the first two innings. They put together seven hits, two walks and one error for their six runs.

The second inning found a change of pitchers for North Saanich, Marie Cooper relieving Sheila King.

A scheduled game tonight was canceled between Toppers and the Individuals. High school members of the youthful Toppers have to be home studying for final examinations.

Senior C Softball

Bob Lyons pitched Ideal Fuel Supply to a 6 to 3 win over Esquimalt Merchants last night in a Senior C game at Victoria West park.

Watch These Youngsters

These 14 youngsters were the happy recipients yesterday of complimentary memberships to Archie McKinnon's Flying "Y" Swim Club. The memberships were presented to the fledgling fish by the Times in recognition of their swimming potentiality. From front to back they are: Roberta Hearn, Lorna Creelman, Norma Hatt, Joyce Schuring, Ruth McAllister, Margo Bowditch, Lorna Surgenor, Doug Wilson, Doug Pego, Malcolm Blyth, Danny Ferguson, Alex Forbes, Arnold Walker and David Saturated.

TIMES' AWARDS

Youthful Aquatic Stars Given 'Y' Memberships

At a happy gathering in the Crystal Garden yesterday, seven boys and seven girls received Times-sponsored memberships to the Flying "Y" swimming club.

The 14 lucky youngsters were chosen from a large group of Victoria elementary school children as being worthy of further training in the splash sport.

Art Stott, representing the Times, thanked the tads for their enthusiasm and told them that in Archie McKinnon of the Flying "Y" they had the finest swimming coach in the world.

McKinnon, in welcoming his new members, expressed the hope that they would train hard and maintain the Y's high standard of sportsmanship. He told them that they could well be the future Olympic swimmers of Canada. He also mentioned that the Times had made the awards to stimulate swimming generally in Victoria.

Kretlow Latest Chisox Prodigy

Until now, Lou Kretlow's chief claim to fame was: 1. He received a $35,000 bonus to sign with Detroit in 1946.

2. He was shipped to St. Louis along with $100,000 by Detroit for Jerry Priddy in 1949.

Today the lanky righthander is blossoming into a winner for the amazing Chicago White Sox. The Sox picked him up for a song from the Browns last year. The coming of Kretlow into his own is just another feather in the cap of freshman manager Paul Richards, an expert handler of pitchers.

Kretlow, who failed as a starter early in the season, was given another chance last week and rewarded Richards with a 4-2 victory over Washington.

Last night Kretlow again faced Washington as the White Sox opened their second tour of the east. Lou came through with the first shutout of his major league career—a 3-0, four-hit job.

The victory enabled the White Sox, who won seven straight the last time they visited the east, to boost their American League lead to three and a half games over the runner up New York Yankees. The Yankees were upset 5-1 by the Browns.

INDIANS GAIN

Cleveland Indians moved within one game of the third-place Boston Red Sox, outlasting Philadelphia Athletics 8-6 in a night game at Philadelphia. The Red Sox dropped a 7-3 decision to the Detroit Tigers at Boston.

Cleveland's Bob Feller, with help in the ninth from Lou Brissie and Mike Garcia, gained credit for his ninth victory.

Eagles May Join W.I.L. Hockey Loop

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A former coach of the Portland Eagles hockey team said Tuesday he hoped to get Portland into the Western International Hockey League.

Jimmy Ward, who coached the Eagles six years, said he already had started negotiations with the league, but had not yet made arrangements for renting the Portland Ice Arena.

The Eagles, who played in the league for six years, were disbanded last season because of lack of interest in the league.

Protect Lead; Commandos Here Tonight

By LANCE WHITTAKER

NEW WESTMINSTER—It will be a battered but brash crew of Shamrocks who take the floor at the Memorial Arena tonight against the New Westminster Commandos.

Both the battering and the brassness came last night at the Kerrisdale rink, where the Irish won a 12 to 8 victory over the Vancouver Combines—their first win of the season over the mainland club—to put a small cushion under their first-place standing in the Inter-city Lacrosse League.

"And, Brother!" sighed Norm Coates, after it was all over, "do I need a cushion."

Norman is only one of the Victoria crew who will be wearing an extra piece of padding after last night's chop-fest on the mainland.

FERGUSON CUT

Given a personal lead by veteran Roy Cavallin, who took the floor in the absence of three of the regulars, the Combines more than made up for the beating they took from the Royal City club last week, when eight men were injured.

Coach Arnie Ferguson was the most serious 'Rock casualty, needing eight stitches to close a gap on his temple, opened up by the probing stick of Sarge Sammartino; but Coates, Duff McCaghey, both Pophams and Larry Booth were nursing painful bruises—and Whitey Severson led with his nose again.

Seemingly in command of things early in the game, the 'Rocks saw their lead go blithering twice, and skittered to the very edge of defeat in the third quarter, when 'Combines outscored them 4 to 1.

It made good watching for the Vancouver fans, but Victoria manager Ralph Baker is wearing tape over his fingernails today.

DRUCE DRIVES

Powered by Tom Druce, who topped his usual good game last night, the Irish moved into the lead right from the start. Druce scored two goals, the first on a smart pass from hard-working Larry Booth, to a singleton notched by Vancouver's Lyle Scott.

In the second quarter the 'Rocks began to make it look like an easy win, showing in four markers, two while short-handed, while Commandos were held to one fluke marker, nudged in by Kenny Webb while flat on his back in front of the crease.

One of the two Whitey Severson markers in the quarter was the picture goal of the game. Going down on a lone break while Red McMillan was off for tripping, Whitey beat two Commando rearguards, fired point blank at Jack Green, grabbed the rebound and with two Vancouverites draped around his neck beat Green beautifully the second time.

Going into the third with a big 6 to 2 edge, the Shamrocks were held in their own zone for almost the entire 15 minutes as Combines poured on pressure and recovered to make it 7 to 6.

Ed Popham and Tom Druce appeared to ice the contest with goals within minutes of the face-off, but the Cavallin men came back strong when Harry Buchanan got lucky, laying two shots home from scrambles in 10 seconds.

After that it was all Victoria. Game time tonight is 8:30.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor.

Two distinguished fellow staffers, Don Ingham and Irving Strickland, were last week handed an assignment. It was to poll the public on a subject which is rather close to Reg Patterson's heart: "What changes would you recommend to bring the Athletics out of the basement?"

Actually the question, which was asked in the line of duty for a regular feature of this newspaper "What's Your Opinion," was ill timed. The Athletics were not in the cellar when the results were released. But so much for inexperience, in this field, the writing boys were only making their living and at the same time trying to secure recruits for the There's-Nothing-Wrong-With-The-Athletics-the-Average-Fan-Couldn't-Straighten-Out Society.

The A's are picking up more dues-paying members to this society at the moment than they are at the ball park where the I'll-Pay-To-Have-My-Say-Group charter membership meets. Which is about the way the two rival factions feel about this city's Western International League club.

A better question probably would have been to ask those polled "how many games have you seen this year?" In this regard Jerry Bowden, one of those polled, hit the nail right on the button when he answered the query with, among other things:

"What I would like to see is a rousing big welcome for the team when it comes back from this road trip, to show the players the city and the fans are behind them."

Miss Beryl Jackson agrees with Mr. Bowden—"The team needs more support from the fans... a strong booster club would be the biggest help of all."

All The Answers—Take Your Choice

Among other suggestions were more batting practice, a new team manager, a new business manager, a working agreement with the New York Yankees, tightening up of training rules, continuing the agreement with Portland, a freer hand for Dick Barrett.

All very sound suggestions and well-meant we're sure as were the two telephone calls which reached this department within a matter of minutes one day last week. The first was from an irate fan who said "You've been too hard on the Athletics." The second was from another 90-cent lad who opined: "You've been too easy on the Athletics." So there you have it; it's as simple as that from a fan's viewpoint.

That a rupture exists between the Athletics and the fans is a diagnosis that goes back to last year when the A's were picked to finish anywhere from first to second only to fall face up upon their bonus-filled reputations.

This year, cold weather and a cool club dampened everyone's enthusiasm for baseball right off the reel, and by the time the customers got their ear muffs off and heard the A's were in the second division, they immediately went back into hibernation, thinking perhaps the 1950 season was still in progress.

An Understanding Has Been Reached

However, this is not the case. Dick Barrett asked for time to get acclimatized when the current season began. It was a slow process with several near-chills being suffered by the directors and Barrett along the route, but both appear on the road to recovery now.

On the A's last home stand, the directors met Barrett face to face and with all barrels loaded.

Barrett never flinched and though backed up against the wall never gave ground before the verbal assault. It was only natural that such a meeting take place. The directors wanted a few questions answered. Barrett wanted a few questions settled. There was never any question of Barrett's dismissal.

Hitting is still the A's weak point; if one must get to the root of the problem that is confronting all but two clubs in the W.I.L. (With Spokane and Vancouver running neck and neck for the league leadership you can cover the rest of the league with a hat.) At last official report the A's trailed in team batting but were within one percentage point of the top in fielding.

Why Not Give It A Try?

However, at the present rate of increase, the A's are clipping the sphere on a par with most other clubs. And paradoxical isn't it that the A's have two of the three leading hitters in the league and three of the loop's top home-run blasters and yet they're last in team batting.

Sure, we'll go along with a plan to give the A's a rousing homecoming Friday. But won't they be nervous playing before a large crowd?

The fans have had their say through the medium of the press. Now let the fans fill the ball park—or hereafter hold their peace. (P.S.—Did you know that manager Reg Patterson has had three "special" nights scheduled for some time, but he wouldn't put 'em on until the club started winning. He didn't want it said...)

TENNING SAVES DAY

Students Share Lead After Tie With Aces

Chinese Students and Butler Aces battled to a 10-inning 6 to 6 tie in last night's senior A men's softball game at Central Park.

The split in points put Students into a tie for first place with Pitzer and Nex and further consolidated the third-place position of Aces.

Both starting hurlers weakened in the middle frames after pitching no-hit ball for three complete innings.

Charlie McKay of Aces was the first to be relieved as he gave way to Archie Sluggert in the bottom of the fifth inning after allowing three runs and walking three batters in a row. Sluggert gave up a single to Toy Mar that drove in two more runs and the Students had the lead for the first time in the game at 5 to 3.

ACES LEAD

The suburbanites went ahead again in the top of the seventh when they scored three runs on one hit. Chan was taken off the mound after he walked in a run and Stan Tenning stepped into the game with the bags still loaded and none out.

Frank Kilshaw beat out an attempted force out at home plate to tally one run. Ray Crabbe, batting for Jim Burdge, skied out to centre for the second out, and Ronnie Benn scored after brother Willie Benn was caught in a run-down between second and third.

Students picked up the final run of the game in the bottom of the seventh after Gar Taylor had walked to open the inning and completed the circuit on two successive errors.

BROWNS SALE TO VEECK TO BE APPROVED FRIDAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—All objections to the sale of St. Louis Browns to Bill Veeck have been removed and the league owners will meet in New York Friday to approve the deal, the Associated Press learned today.

The transfer has been held up for some time because one American League owner was bitter at the DeWitt brothers, present owners of the club, and refused to give them a chance to dispose of their debt-ridden club.

The transaction involves the purchase of the entire stock in the Browns at the cost of $2,200,000. The present owners, Bill and Charlie DeWitt, who purchased 56 per cent of the stock from Richard Muckerman two years ago for a $1,000,000, are forced to sell because they are up to their necks in debt.

Lobs And Volleys

By DICK PRAUL

The possibility loomed today that Victoria net followers will have a chance this summer of seeing the Japanese Davis Cup team perform in an exhibition on the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club courts.

James McArthur, club official currently in Boise, Ida., on business, is to look into the matter Sunday on his way back to Victoria. The Japanese players took part in the Seattle city championships.

Among those seeing the Seattle matches was Miss Isabelle Henley, outstanding junior player at the Vic Lawn Club, a student at University of Washington. Miss Henley, now back for the summer, is entering the Vic Lawn Club championships slated to get underway Saturday.

Canada's chances of making a finer showing in Davis Cup play this year are enhanced by two factors.

First, the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association has made it possible for Lorne Macneil, the two-fisted Vancouver star who won the B.C. title here last year, and Brendan Macken and Henri Rochon (nucleus of the team) to tour England this year and perform in the big tournaments there.

Secondly, Canada will get an easier draw this year, and is expected to get by Cuba in the first round in August.

Of the three Canadians now abroad, Macneil has been showing continued improvement. No Canadian player has been a Wimbledon performer for many years, and one or more of the Canucks trio entered in the world's premier tennis event late this month may well pull a few surprises, considering their play in north of England tournaments this spring. They are also entered in the Queen's Club tourney in London just prior to the Wimbledon event.

A new champion has been crowned at Victoria High. Ron Birch played some of the best tennis he ever has played Monday evening to whip Ted Horsey in a torrid three-setter, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4. In the doubles final, Ian Glenday teamed with Horsey to whip Birch and Garth Anderson, 8-6, 7-5.

Among the new members at the Vic Lawn Club is Grace "Sonny" Wyatt, daughter of the city manager. She was presented with a club membership on her 17th birthday Tuesday.

'BATTLE OF ANCIENTS' DUE TONIGHT

Gate Expected To Gross $100,000

NEW YORK (UP)—The somewhat musty "battle of ancients" between Joe Louis and Lee Savold, scheduled for the Polo Grounds tonight, was further dampened today by the weather man's mention of "possible showers."

However, promoter Jim Norris was confident the 15-rounder between Louis, 37, and Savold, 35 would attract at least 16,000 fans and at least $100,000 whether staged tonight or postponed to tomorrow night.

"We'll go to the ball park with an advance of about $40,000," Norris said. "And the sale at the park will take care of the rest."

Louis was favored at 3-1 to win this bout between the oldest heavyweight contenders ever to fight for the challenger's role. Their ages total 72 years. Norris has promised the winner a shot at the title, probably at Detroit in September.

Wright Trophy Won By North Saanich High

The F. N. Wright Trophy, emblematic of athletic competition between North Saanich High School and Mt. Newton High, was won this week-end by North Saanich.

The winners ran up an aggregate point total of 18, to 12 for Mount Newton.

Turning point in the race for trophy was the senior girls' softball game, won by North Saanich, 17 to 5. Esther Bertelsen and Marion Thompson were the hitting stars, backing the steady hurling of Marie Gilbert. North Saanich also won the senior boys' game by a 20 to 16 score.

OLD SOLDIER'S JOB (NEA)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur will be honorary referee at the United States versus Japan first-round Davis Cup matches in Louisville, July 20-22.

Blind Switch From Alley To Green; 'As Good As Members,' Says Teacher

The members of the White Cane Club are blind but their lack of sight does not stop them in the least from enjoying life to the fullest.

This was well illustrated yesterday when 10 members of the fine organization took their first lesson in lawn bowling at Canadian Pacific Lawn Bowling Club. After taking a dip in the Crystal Garden pool, the "students" were met by bowling club officials at the side green which was given for the day to the White Cane Club.

George Dixon, president of the Canadian Pacific club, introduced his guests to their instructors, Steve Cole and E. W. Adshad, who generously gave their time to the pupils. Instruction in stance, grip and delivery were given and it was not long before blind students were playing under their own control.

For the benefit of students who were completely sightless, the instructors guided the deliveries with their voices. Several of the pupils had partial sight and it was not long till they were engaged in hotly contested matches, amazing their teachers with their prowess.

The idea of teaching outdoor bowling to White Cane members was first conceived by Mr. Lewis, provincial representative of the Canadian National Institute of the Blind. He contacted Miss Dorothy Stark, local C.N.I.B. representative, and Miss Stark took the plan to Mr. Dixon of the bowling club.

GOOD LEARNERS

Dixon is greatly enthusiastic about the venture, saying "I am sure that we can teach all these people the game. We will certainly enjoy doing it and they will derive pleasure from playing while they get fresh air, sunshine and exercise."

All the students who participated yesterday bowl fivepins at indoor alleys during the winter months. The officers of the club felt that a substitute should be found for the summer and the Canadian Pacific club stepped in to fill the bill.

Until the members gain confidence and proper delivery, they will use the side greens at the field. When they are sufficiently adept they will move out to the longer and smoother greens. They will play every Tuesday afternoon until October 1, at which date they will return to indoor bowling.

Locke, Hogan Rule As Favorites For U.S. Open

By OSCAR FRALEY BIRMINGHAM, Mich., (UP)

—Beknickered Bobby Locke and bantam Ben Hogan were the popular choices today as the world's best golfers took final tune-up licks at trap-studded Oakland Hills Country Club for America's top golfing classic—the U.S. Open.

There was a slight edge in the consensus for Locke who, if he won the three-day tournament starting tomorrow, would be the first foreign winner since England's Ted Ray turned the trick in 1920. The South African, many thought, had the precision driving necessary to conquer Oakland Hills' revamped 6,927 yards with its 121 greedy sand traps.

"One thing sure," grunted big Jim Ferrier, the one-time Australian from San Francisco, "nobody is going to break par of 280 for the four rounds."

With the first tee shot yet to be fired, it appeared that all of the Open scoring records were safe. These include the 64 posted by Lee Mackey of Birmingham, Ala., at Merion last year; Sam Snead's two-round 69-69-138 at Riviera in 1948; or Hogan's three and four round records of 67-72-68-69-276.

SEEKS THIRD CROWN Hogan will be out shooting for this third Open title, which would put him in a bracket all by himself. Willie Anderson and Bobby Jones both won the open four times, but nobody has three victories. Hogan, on his 1948-1950 wins joined such two-timers as Alex Smith, Johnny McDermott, Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen and Ralph Guldahl.

While Locke and Roberto De Vicenzo, the lapping Latin from the Argentine, both have many backers, precedent is against them. In addition to the only foreigner ever to win the American classic was England's Harry Vardon, away back in 1900.

Locke, if he won, would be joining a pair of pretty fine country golfers—Jones and Sarazen—as the only ones who ever won the British and U.S. Opens within a one-year span. Jones did it in 1926 and 1930 while Sarazen turned the trick in 1932.

"Headache?..take a Disprin"

Why DISPRIN? Because DISPRIN is soluble and substantially neutral. When taken in water as recommended, it enters the stomach as a true solution and not as undissolved particles. It is therefore less liable to cause stomach discomfort.

DISPRIN is readily absorbed, because it definitely dissolves (not merely disintegrates) DISPRIN permits speedy absorption and gives quicker relief. DISPRIN is palatable. Even children will take it readily.

BOOM IN FISH, MAYHEW CLAIMS; BEST BREAKFAST

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian food retailers are showing more interest in the sale of fish, Fisheries Minister Mayhew told the Commons Tuesday during study of his department estimates.

He reported that more shops devoted to the sale of fish were being opened and many other establishments were installing refrigeration and other equipment.

The fisheries industry, Mr. Mayhew said, could give the working peoples of Canada and the United States the "best breakfast they can get for the money."

Army Wife Hitches Ride To Korea

TOKYO (AP)—The pretty brunette wife of a British army captain arrived in Tokyo today and confided she had just spent three days with her husband near the fighting front in Korea.

Brown-eyed Mrs. Benita Lasseter, 27, willingly admitted she made an unauthorized trip without travel order but she wouldn't say how.

"It might kick up a fuss for others," she said. Most likely she hitch-hiked a plane ride for the trip to Korea and back.

Her husband is Capt. Matthew Lasseter, 29, of the Northumberland Fusiliers in the British 29th Brigade.

Mrs. Lasseter said she was in Korea four days but it took a day to get word to her husband that she was there.

Where did they stay while in Korea?

"A friend put me up," she said but declined to explain further. What did they do?

"We went for walks through the villages and I saw many friends."

Mrs. Lasseter knew many of the British troops because her husband has been a regular in the army since he was 19.

Want Coast Wage Rates

VANCOUVER (CP)—Opening date for a "showdown" contract battle between woodworkers and interior British Columbia operators has been set for July 6, Stewart Alsbery said last night.

Mr. Alsbery, B.C. district president of the International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.), said the union will meet the southern operators in Kelowna on that date, moving later to Prince George.

"We are out to get the coast scale," he said.

The coast rate is $1.29 1/2 cent an hour as opposed to $1.10 in the interior.

LIVE WIRES, POLES IMPERIL

VANCOUVER (CP)—The city had a live-wire time Tuesday.

Two 1,400-volt power poles and a live trolley wire crashed into city streets in separate accidents, but no body was hurt.

An automobile was surrounded by live wires when the power poles collapsed, just as a couple and their baby were leaving the house to step into the car.

A boat on wheels caused the second accident. A fishing seiner being transported by truck snapped a trolley wire at a busy intersection in the Cambie district, sending the wire whipping to the street, shooting 20-foot sparks.

Transfer employee Bob Clarke, on top of the boat, was uninjured.

Australian Ex-Premier Chifley Dies Suddenly

Collapse Of 'Mr. Labor' During State Ball Ends Festivities; Lost Election In April

CANBERRA (AP)—Former Prime Minister Joseph B. Chifley collapsed and died tonight.

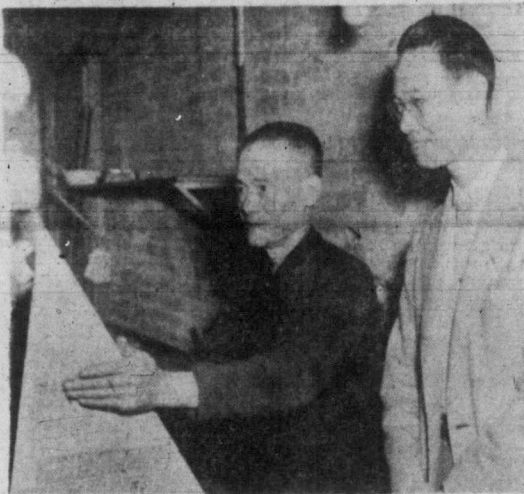

The former railroad engineer, long-time leader of Australia's Labor Party, was Prime Minister from April, 1945, until December, 1949, when the Labor Government was succeeded by a Liberal-Country Party coalition. He was 66.

Chifley suffered a seizure in his hotel room during a state ball, part of the celebrations of the 50th anniversary of the federal government.

Many at the ball wept openly as the music was stilled and news of his death announced. The ball was cancelled.

Chifley was a genial homespun who lived and talked simply. Labor Party chief since the death in 1945 of John Curtin, Chifley was a genial homespun who lived and talked simply.

Chinese Newspaper Here Threatened With Closure

Canada's oldest Chinese newspaper, the New Republic, in operation in Victoria for 43 years, today faced the bleak future of having to close its doors unless skilled help is found to relieve a serious staff shortage.

The daily newspaper, with a circulation of about 8,000 across Canada, and which has done much in the past towards interpreting Canadian culture to Chinese citizens, will not be able to operate much longer unless skilled help is brought over from China, Chew P. Yee, president of the New Republic, said today.

Mr. Yee explained that he has been unable to find a Canadian-born Chinese to help out in the editorial staff. "They either haven't got the necessary language qualifications or they are not anxious to take up newspaper work," he said.

The burden of publishing the newspaper in the past three years has fallen on the shoulders of Kien Yeh Wu, editor-in-chief, and 70-year-old Walter Lee, translator. Their working hours begin at 4.30 in the morning and end at eight at night.

Mr. Wu, a university graduate and trained for the diplomatic service, is also a skilled water color artist.

"I haven't had time to paint since I took over this job," he said. "I get up and go to bed thinking about the newspaper."

The newspaper picks up its news from China from a short-wave wireless set. The paper also covers local and Canadian news. The editor has to cope with 7,000 Chinese characters in writing and editing stories. All news stories have to be written with brush and paint. Typewriters are of no use.

Equalization Of Freight Rates In Legislation Due To Go To Commons

OTTAWA (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier today gave notice to the Commons that tomorrow he will introduce legislation implementing some recommendations of the Royal Commission on Transportation, including a bill for country-wide equalization of freight rates.

The measures will include:
1. Authority for the Board of Transport Commissioners to equalize freight rates as between the different areas of Canada.

2. Provision for the interior of western Canada to get part of the benefits of low "transcontinental" freight rates between the east and the west coast.

3. Amendments to the Maritime Freight Rates Act to legalize the extension of benefits of the act to certain types of shipment which now are being given in practice.

4. Amendments to the Canadian National-Canadian Pacific Act of 1933 to give Parliament a closer check on joint economies put into effect by the two big companies.

NO GENERAL DEBATE?

It was understood the government hopes to have the new legislation turned over to a House committee at this session without a general debate.

The new legislation will not implement two other major recommendations of the commission which are still under study by the government. These are:

1. That all forms of transportation under federal jurisdiction should be placed under a single controlling authority.
2. That the capital structure of the Canadian National Railways should undergo an extensive overhauling to place the company on a more stable financial basis.

Long Delay Is Now Expected Over Point Ellice Bridge

Ban On Steel, High Cost Is Pointed Out

By-law for the proposed new Point Ellice Bridge is not likely to go before the voters of Victoria this year and may be held up until present national defense needs diminish, it was believed in some civic circles today.

Estimated cost of the bridge has climbed from some $300,000 to $900,000—the figure arrived at by public works committee meeting Tuesday.

Division of opinion expressed by the three-man committee may develop into a general council split on the issue. In order to go to the voters, the by-law must have a two-thirds majority in council.

Chief problem facing the municipality appears to be borrowing the money.

It is reliably reported that the federal government has indicated it does not want any lending to municipalities.

"In view of commitments for an enlarged defense program and the limited money available for investment in Canada, it is safe to say loans for anything except defense program would not be looked on with favor by lending institutions," said one source.

Deputy Minister of Municipal Affairs B. C. Bracewell, has warned municipal officers that until the present disturbed condition has settled down municipalities would be well advised to take a holiday from all construction which requires capital borrowing.

If the city has to go the $900,000 alone, the by-law will get a rough ride in council, it appears certain.

Heading the forces of a bridge at all costs is Acting Mayor J. D. Hunter, chairman of public works. Ald. Millard H. Mooney, public works member, said he definitely would not favor the bridge if the city had to finance it alone.

"The city simply cannot afford it," he said.

He felt the provincial government would have to put up $300,000 and the federal another $300,000 before he would favor construction.

"I still favor a bridge no matter what," said Acting Mayor Hunter, adding: "We will approach the provincial and federal governments informally."

He said he would be moving to introduce the by-law in council, when all phases of the issue had been settled.

At Tuesday's meeting both Ald. Mooney and Ald. Percy Scourrah felt some other alternative should be worked out when it was figured the bridge would cost $900,000.

VICTORIA-PAT BAY ROAD COMPLETION IN '51 SEEN

Works Minister E. C. Carson said today he is hopeful still that the entire Victoria-Patricia Bay highway, a two-year project, will be reconstructed this year if allocated federal funds are forthcoming.

Good progress was reported half-way through the first phase of the job—from Douglas and North Quadra Streets to Keating Cross Road—and there was "a good chance" the northern section can be attended to before the bad weather arrives.

New cuts to eliminate curves on the existing highway are being made by contract while public works crews will rebuild sections of the present road to be included in the new highway.

Downtown Clothing Store Damaged In $4,000 Blaze

Fire in the men's clothing store of Murdoch and Girard at 623 Yates Street today caused more than $4,000 damage.

The fire was discovered by store employees Mrs. L. Dobbie and Peter Petcutt when they arrived for work. The blaze was well underway when Lieut. Carl Mills arrived with a crew of firemen, but was soon brought under control.

Fire Chief Robert Brindle and Deputy Fire Chief Frank Briers and Building Inspector William Oosterink said the fire was caused by a stove in the Delhi Hotel next door. The heat had come through a flue sealed off by a metal covering in the store and started the wallpaper on fire above a tailor's work table.

Victoria Police Commissioner Brent Murdoch, co-owner, said the flames destroyed a number of bolts of suit cloth, worth $500 each, naval officers' uniforms being tailored and suits and parts of suits that had been sent in to be repaired. Smoke damage was heavy.

Fire officials felt that early discovery had prevented total destruction. The fire was kept confined to the mezzanine floor. Damage was covered by insurance, Mr. Murdoch said.

ALEXANDER MCINTYRE

2 More To Be Candidates

Three candidates were in the field today for the forthcoming Esquimalt by-election. Alexander McIntyre, Sooke realtor, an independent, and Cmdr. Alfred C. Wurtele, Esquimalt council member, both told the Victoria Daily Times they will seek election as successor to the late Cmdr. Charles Beard, whose death last year made an election necessary.

Date of the polling has not been set. It must be held before Oct. 31.

The two new announcements follow the report Tuesday that Mrs. Mary Whisker, wife of Andrew Whisker, Coalition member of the legislature for Cowichan-Newcastle, is also considering running in the Esquimalt by-election as an independent.

Mrs. Whisker has taken out nomination papers.

The attorney-general said he pointed out further that the chief justice was "peculiarly fitted" for the position not only from his judicial knowledge but from his wide business experience.

Submissions will be made to the arbitrator from race track operators and horse owners in regard to amounts of purses for the 70 days of racing scheduled at Lansdowne and Hastings Park, starting at Lansdowne June 20.

The tracks say they cannot pay more than $850 purses. Horsemen are demanding $950 and $1,000 purses.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Have A Bit Of Blarney
And A Little Lime Juice!

By PENNY SAVER

"Top of the mornin' to you," Miss Saver, said a bright-eyed clerk.

"And top of the mornin'," said I to her.

"What's the occasion for the fine Irish accent," said I. Said she, "It's to introduce ye to the shipment of juices from Belfast, Ireland."

And a fine shipment it is too. I might say. The tall, slender bottles are filled with lemon barley, ginger wine, grapefruit barley, waters and lime juice cordial.

It can be diluted according to the likes of your taste buds and cooling drink provided for all.

Slurp! Pass the ice, mom!

New to fruit counters, this fine day, were a few crates of apricots debuting at 35 pennies a pound. Newcomers, too, are delicious sweet plums, a pound for 40 cents. Cherries are in small amounts but can't say that about the price of the derved temptin' things. The sum of 30 pennies pays for only half pound.

Watermelon upped its price and you'll find it selling anywhere from 15 to 12 pennies a pound.

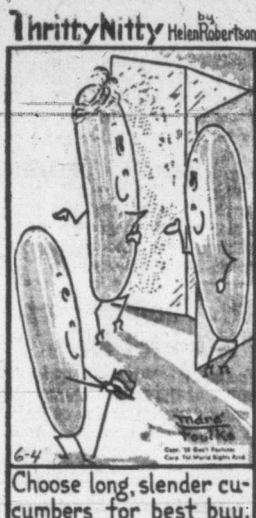

Strawberries are getting so plentiful they're coming to town in two sizes. The smaller berries, 20 cents the basket, and their larger sisters, 25 and 27 cents.

You'll find seedless grapes, green all within a few days. Local new potatoes, although not plentiful this week, are expected in greater quantity next week. A pound of these local 'taters, 10 pennies.

Sum of 25 pennies seemed to be the average price on ice-cream lovin' cantaloupes, and ten pennies for a head of leaf lettuce. The head variety was sitting on a number of counters at something like 2 for 25 cents. Ten pennies was a popular price this morning, for it also tagged itself to a pound of spinach.

Fresh-as-daisy green beans were tucked in many a shopper's basket. I noticed. They're 35 cents a pound, and tasty tidbits. Tins of fruit juices are costing less, these days. The tins of grapefruit juice that were selling at 2 for 35 cents are down to 29 pennies.

From Australia have come tins of crushed, or piece pineapple, in 33-cent tins. Accompanying them were tins of tropical fruit salad. Tropical, meaning among other fruits, they've added portions of pawpaw and passion fruit. Sum of 29 pennies for the latter.

Choose long, slender cucumbers for best buy.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Want To Sleep Faster?
Then Relax Completely

Everyone knows that sleep is essential for health and energy. Most people forget that the quality of sleep is even more important than the amount. This explains why some individuals can get along with only a few hours sleep. Remember Edison? Folks in this category experience deep and complete relaxation. The average person requires about eight hours shut-eye for the highest energy level.

The whole trick is in being relaxed before going to bed. Some may achieve this by listening to soft music for 15 minutes before turning off the light. Some may find a slow walk outdoors effective. Others may read poetry, and for some a warm bath does the trick.

Anyway, do not go straight to bed after a hard tense bridge session or after you have just been struggling with the budget, which doesn't make the grade. Stop anything which tensions you up at least a half hour before trying to go to sleep.

If you have not tried soft music you may be impressed with the fact that some mental hospitals have actually cut their bills for sleeping pills by this method. Most persons also sleep better after a light meal before retiring.

Most of us would have thought that the man who does physical labor requires more sleep than the one who works only with his brain. This is not true. It takes almost twice as much sleep for the latter group to recoup energy. Attention executives!

Some men and women live in a state of chronic fatigue. They awake every morning feeling dead tired. This is often due to emotional upsets, tension and worries. These take such a toll of energy that a night's sleep does not catch you up to your normal vitality level.

There are only two things which will improve this situation. 1. Get rid of the worry or adjust to it. 2. Physical exercise.

Authorities feel that physical exercise is a wonderful antidote

Ontario Woman Molds Business, Home,
Social Life Into Successful Career

It was the lure of a new fur coat that tipped the scales in favor of Mrs. Harold W. Johnston (Adalene E. Johnston) in the business world and "Mama" to her office staff, stepping out of her role of housewife to become a successful business woman.

Four months after she made this momentous decision she bought her fur coat—a Persian lamb—and at the end of ten years she realized every woman's dream and bought a mink.

In between coats she became president of Beauty Counselors of Canada.

Success story for Mrs. Johnston commenced in Windsor, Ont., where she and her husband, an executive with Ford Motor Company of Canada, their son Mark, and daughter Anne, were living.

Mrs. Johnston was enjoying life as a wife and mother. She taught Sunday school, went to concerts and the theatre, tended her beloved flower garden and worked happily in her 11-room home. She also had a place in Windsor's social life.

Then a stranger came knocking at her door. N. S. Walbridge, head of the American firm of beauty counselors.

He was looking for a Canadian to train as a counselor, a woman with a social background as well as a pleasing personality. The society editor of the Windsor Daily Star suggested Mrs. Johnston to him.

Adalene consulted her husband, stressing the fur coat angle and Mr. Johnston finally agreed.

Today he will tell you he really didn't believe the job would amount to much—in time or energy. And he even bet his wife that her sales would never buy the fur coat.

Everyone seemed to feel Adalene was making a mistake. Her mother was dismayed and her friends frankly skeptical.

So much so that even Adalene was fearful.

She tells how she actually hoped her first prospect would not be at home. But she was and Adalene made a sale. After that there was nothing to it.

Four years after she started, company officials decided to head up the Canadian firm (the product is manufactured in Toronto) with a Canadian president. Mrs. Johnston was the obvious choice.

At that time her inside staff consisted of two with a handful

Mrs. Johnston in her suite at the Empress Hotel during a recent visit to Victoria. Now 43 she is very youthful in appearance and will tell you with a shake of her brunette curls, "Years have nothing to do with age. As long as a woman keeps herself young mentally, she looks young physically."

of operators in the field. Today, the head office in Windsor numbers 35, including some men, and the field staff runs into the tens of hundreds. And Mrs. Johnston knows them all for she now spends a certain amount of time each year travelling from coast to coast to consult with her field staffs.

Born Adalene Elliott, daughter of a successful contractor, this clever woman attended McMaster University and took post-graduate work at the Sorbonne in Paris. She taught at Alma College for a time and in 1932 married Harold W. Johnston, then European auditor for Massey-Harris.

Harold took his bride to Copenhagen where Adalene found her modern languages, in which she had majored at university, very useful. And she soon added Danish to the list.

Son Mark was born in Denmark, and daughter Anne in Windsor, after the Johnstons returned there in 1936.

Adalene Johnston firmly believes that careers and marriage can mix. And after nearly 15 years of successfully running both a home and a business, she is entitled to that belief.

"Such important things as motherhood and the running of a happy home are necessary," she tells you, "but just as necessary are outside interests to maintain balance."

MARY HAWORTH

Divorced, Married Again, Woman
Needs Kinship With 13-Year-Old Son

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: It seems I just can't get along with my son Tony, who is 13. We don't have that close relationship that most mothers and sons have; and I think he tries deliberately to anger me at times. Perhaps I should explain that Tony's father and I were divorced after 10 years' marriage; and four years ago I married again.

My present husband and I get along very well, hardly ever argue; and our home life is quiet and happy. We have another child, a daughter two years of age; and because of Tony's jealousy, they get along poorly. Why can't he blend with us, instead of being so contrary? He puts himself on Cissy's level and won't give an inch to her. He pushes and teases her continually when he's here, with the result that she is crying and screaming and the house is in an uproar—S.J.

ANXIETY COMPLEX

DEAR S.J.—Apparently Tony feels—and with some justification—that he is a fifth wheel in your scheme of things. And, in resentment of this set-up, and also to compel as much attention from you as possible, he creates endless difficulties that make him a storm centre. Not that he plots and plans this problem behavior, however; it just boils over from his anxious melancholy about his stepchild rating in your affections.

I believe it is safe to say that good mothers usually experience special spontaneous rapport with a firstborn child, the more especially if that child is a son—and provided the parental alliance affords both mother and child an oasis of happy security in crucial years.

And if you and Tony missed this experience—as I think you did—it probably was because his advent found you in marital troubles beyond your depth—or moodily aware that you had married an uncongenial man. In any case, neither you nor Tony is wholly to blame for the problem, then or now.

What to do? Tony needs maternal love, understanding and acceptance—sufficient to relax his insecurity tensions. As of now, your manner "rejects" him, because of his distress symptoms. When you try to reason with him and he looks defensive, you "just drop the effort and get disgusted again," you say. So long as "disgust" permeates your attitude, you won't be able to help him. My advice is to turn to a Family Service Agency in your community, for specialist guidance in getting the knack of reassuring (and ruling) Tony.

"There is a lesson in this for we Canadians," she pointed out, "we are so given to under-estimation when it comes to our country."

"We must realize more fully what a wonderful privilege it is to be a Canadian citizen and then try and emphasize the wonders of Canada for someone else."

Mrs. H. L. Campbell thanked the speaker at close of her address.

Victoria Twin Married In Alberni

A marriage of interest in Victoria, Nanaimo and Alberni took place when Rev. W. R. B. Nixon officiated at a summer wedding Saturday at the United Church Port Alberni, when Clarissa Rita Muir, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Muir, Alberni, became the bride of Richard Rex Collard, twin son of Mrs. A. Collard, Victoria, and late Mr. Collard. The bride and her family are formerly of Nanaimo.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride wore traditional white satin. Dainty French lace trimmed with tiny seed pearls formed the yoke and neckline, the same lace also formed the front panel of the full skirt, which featured a bustle-effect at the back. Her sleeves were lily point. From a coronet headpiece cascaded a veil of embroidered net, and she carried a shower bouquet of red rosebuds and white carnations.

Attending as maid of honor was the bride's sister, Barbara Jean Muir, who wore a gown of apricot taffeta with mits to match. Her flowers were mauve carnations, sweet peas and small white lillies.

Bridesmaid Miss Carole Hindmarch, Ladysmith, the bride's cousin, chose a taffeta gown of deep rose with matching mits. She carried a cascade bouquet of blue carnations, sweet peas and white lillies.

Best man for his twin brother was Robert Charles Collard. Ushers were Ken Hindmarch, Ladysmith, and George Adams Jr., Alberni.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at The Rosebank, where the young couple received congratulations from many friends. The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered cake. J. Ovington proposed the toast to his great-granddaughter. Leaving for the honeymoon trip the bride donned a smart suit of navy blue with white accessories and an orchid corsage bouquet. The honeymoon will be through northern Washington and interior of British Columbia. On their return they will live in Victoria.

Laurel, Hardy TV Hits But No Cut From Old Pictures

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Why," exclaimed Oliver Hardy, "it's just like the old days!"

Hardy, the man-mountain member of the comedy team of Laurel and Hardy, was speaking of their new-found popularity. Their old comedies have been running on television and have created a new audience for them. "It's hard to believe," said

Hardy, "Right now we're getting more fan mail than we ever got in the old days. And it's all due to television."

Their TV popularity has brought them a variety of movie offers, including a possible deal with director Billy Wilder. And there are numerous offers for TV.

Unfortunately for them, Laurel and Hardy have no rights to their films now being shown on TV. They were owned by Hal Roach, who sold them and his other films to a distribution company.

"I understand the price was $750,000," said Hardy, "and I have heard that the films have already brought back three times that amount. I wish I had known that Roach was going to sell them. I could have raised enough money to buy them."

Laurel and Hardy recently returned from France, where they made their first picture together in several years, "Atoll K." They planned to stay 10 weeks but remained 11 months, due to Laurel's illness.

Last year, Hardy performed a couple of film roles without his partner. I asked if they planned to make any separate appearances in the future.

"I don't think so," he replied. "I took those jobs frankly because I needed the money. I called up Stan and asked him about it and he said I'd be foolish not to take the roles. But now, thanks to television, we have all the offers we can handle."

LONDON (Reuters)—The Festival of Britain has cost the government an extra $400—so that lawyer Lewis Langdon can get some sleep.

Langdon lives directly opposite the festival exhibition. When the festival started last month, his apartment was the target for 13 powerful searchlights, which pick out the tops of impressive buildings to form a backdrop to the festival skyline. Langdon could read in bed without turning on his lights. But, he complained to the ministry of works, he could not sleep. The apartment now has 12 pairs of new curtains—with the governments' compliments.

SCANDINAVIAN ARTS

Priceless Display

An exhibition of Scandinavian arts and crafts was opened Tuesday night at the Arts Centre, Broughton Street, by E. R. Fibiger.

Mr. Fibiger was introduced by Mrs. Ina D. D. Unthoff, and gave an interesting address on the development of the fine arts in the Scandinavian countries. He made particular reference to the histories of many of the objects on exhibition.

Priceless articles in silver, ceramics, porcelains, prints, weaving, paintings, embroidery and old maps line the walls and fill two glass cases.

Three interesting platters are part of the Florandica set of 2,600 pieces made by the Royal Copenhagen factory for Catherine the Great of Russia.

The oldest piece in the exhibition is a ring and pin of Viking silver, fashioned as a cloak fastening and dating about the year 800. Few of these are to be seen outside Danish government museums.

Mrs. Gable Travels To Try To Forget
HONOLULU (UP)—Clark Gable's wife was on a quiet Hawaiian holiday today, attempting to "forget" the breakup of her short-lived marriage to him and some movie stars.

Mrs. Gable, the former Lady Sylvia Ashley, arrived yesterday aboard George Vanderbilt's yacht Pioneer.

She authorized Vanderbilt to act as her spokesman. "Gable evidently just didn't want to be married any longer," Vanderbilt explained.

A spoon of 1,600 is very similar in character to Elizabethan spoons.

The collectors' items are on loan from Mr. Fibiger, Mr. Stump, Peter Tonnesen, A. Gilstein, Mrs. Alan Morkill and Dr. Irene Hudson, who is exhibiting some fine Norwegian embroidery done by herself.

Pearson Speaks To Ganges Pupils

GANGES—George S. Pearson, M.L.A., was guest speaker at a banquet and dance given at the school hall in honor of Salt Spring Island High School graduating class.

Stephanie Malcheski gave the valedictory address.

J. B. Foubister presided, and pupils of Grade X served the graduates and other guests.

Arena Commission Election Pending

Acting Mayor J. D. Hunter, Tuesday called a special council meeting for 2:30 Thursday to elect the fifth member of the Memorial Arena Commission.

Resignation of R. C. Field, with still a year of his term to run, created the vacancy.

Anna Neagle Honored

LONDON (Reuters)—Anna Neagle, British film star, was named best actress of the year today by the "Picturegoer," an English film magazine.

The trophy, fifth given to Miss Neagle by the magazine, was awarded mainly for her performance in the film "Odetta."

BRIDGE LESSON

by Oswald Jacoby

Part of the fun of playing in tournaments is having a few noteworthy hands to hash over with your friends. One such hand, shown today, resulted in a clear top for Ivan Half of Pittsburgh, and William Mouser of Detroit, in the Life Masters Individual Tournament of 1950.

Not everybody would bid the North cards as Mouser did. He had agreed with Half to show aces over two-bids. Hence he had to bid two no-trump (showing no aces) as his first response to two diamonds. Many of the other experts bid two spades with the North cards.

At his next turn Mouser decided to raise the clubs on the theory that his club support was surely vital information while his spade suit might be worthless. From there Half took over to get to the slam contract in clubs.

Half won the opening diamond lead, led to the queen of hearts, and returned to his own hand with a diamond. This was a risky play, but Half had decided it was even riskier to draw any trumps.

When the second diamond got by, Half could cash the ace of hearts to discard dummy's last diamond. He continued with a low diamond, and West ruffed with the jack. Dummy over-ruffed with the queen, and declarer decided that West's ruff showed that the rest of the trumps were held by East.

A cross-ruff was indicated, so Half ruffed a spade in his own hand, another diamond in the dummy, and a second spade in his hand. Now he could cash the ace of hearts, ruff a heart in the eleventh and twelfth tricks with the ace and king of clubs.

'WHO, ME?' SAYS JOAN

Puzzled By Fuss Over Dates

PARIS (UP)—Joan Fontaine said today she couldn't understand why everybody got so excited just because she went dancing a few times with Prince Aly Khan.

But the blonde Hollywood actress would not comment further on her friendship with Aly. Their latest date was Monday night, when they danced until dawn at a party given by Elsa Maxwell in a Paris restaurant.

Joan was told that Rita Hayworth, who is seeking a divorce from Aly, had informed newsmen in Nevada that she "really didn't care" about her husband's dates with Miss Fontaine. Joan said she didn't even want to comment on that. "Besides," she said, "I'm going to London today for a couple of days."

From there, she will go on to Berlin, she said.

Winner Divorced

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Film actor Charles Winninger and Blanche Ring, former musical comedy actress, were divorced Tuesday after a separation of 22 years.

To recall happy memories of noble wines for the connoisseur and make clear to the novice some of the mystery of the vignerons' art, this week
 "CBC Wednesday Night" presents a BBC-transcribed featured entitled "Growth of a Vintage." It treats wine snobbery with appropriate ridicule, and de-limits the gulf that separates wine bearing an honored name from an "alcoholic beverage." The program falls into two parts. In the first Andrea Simon and John Chondos join in an inquiry into the cult of the Burgundy wine, and in the second,
 Wynford Vaughan Thomas describes "Le Trois Glorieuses de Dijon"—the three glorious days in the Burgundian year when the vintage is appraised and auctioned in Beaune, and its happy climax celebrated with feasting, oratory and song. On CBR

Musically speaking, one of the most important visitors to Canada since Paul Hindemith came here in 1946 at the invitation of the CBC, will be Darius Milhaud, who has accepted a CBC invitation to direct a program of his own music as a prelude to tonight's featured presentation. This program will replace John A. Brown's "Growth of a Vintage" at 8.
 One-half hour earlier, Michael Head, well-known English baritone and song writer, will be the recitalist, singing a group of Italian songs, three by the Swiss-French composer Arthur Honegger, and four of his own compositions.

Wants World To Know What Will Happen To Aggressors Who Choose To Start Nuclear War

Senator Brian McMahon (Dem.-Conn.), chairman of the Senate House Atomic energy committee, told reporters Monday the tests were "entirely successful." He said they "lived up to the expectations made theoretically . . . before they were conducted."

Those experiments included some first steps in actual field work toward creation of a super-destructive hydrogen bomb of perhaps 1,000 times more force

Says Traffic Lights Not Legal; Choose Jail Term

VANCOUVER (CP)—A motorist here Monday chose to go to jail rather than pay $5 fine. He was charged with a traffic violation because he used a "flashing light" turning indicator on his car instead of making a hand signal.

I will appeal the case," said Ralph Wallaschuk from his cell in City Jail. "I won't pay the $5."

Magistrate W. W. B. McInnes had ordered him to pay the fine or spend three days in jail. He went to jail, but some hours later was released on bail pending appeal.

The automatic signals, such as used by Wallaschuk, are illegal here police reported.

His bail was arranged by a barrister connected with the British Columbia Automobile Association.

VICTORIAN SPRING

by Cecil Maiden

CIX
The quick tune now scampering off Madame Benedine's busy fingers called for some fast little steps, then a dip forwards, backwards, and a series of kicks that rose higher and higher in rough relation to the mounting excitement of the audience.

Letty was getting accustomed now to the cheers, the table-thumping which always greeted their appearance. On Saturday nights the noise was always bigger, and the approval more vociferous.

They were a shapely bunch of girls, and Madame Benedine, who went faithfully to church on Sunday mornings and considered herself a model of propriety, contrived, on weekdays, a remarkable compromise with her conscience which permitted her to allow the Hurdy Girls to display a row of crimson garters well above the knee.

Letty looked out at the audience. She smiled quietly to herself at the sudden thought of what Mr. Carstairs, back in that far-away, long-age little school at Craigallan, would think if he saw her now—clapping the front hem of her skirts and waving them hilariously over her head like this.

Like the others, she had acquired a fair idea of what the average Cariboo miner admired in the way of entertainment, and at sixpence a dance she had listened to everything from proposals of marriage to barbed little suggestions about strolling down the street for a breath of fresh air.

Letty's neat-limbed little figure was not considered quite in line with the standard of Cariboo perfection, which ran to heavier charms. It was, however, an attractive little figure, none the less, slim-waisted, delicately, rather than voluptuously curved. A man from Richfield had none too elegantly told her "Some men like to ride a carthorse. Give me a pedigree filly!"

Appetite, like the Barkerville drainage system, was but little concealed. Clothes were rough and manners coarser accordingly. And though Madame Benedine would have thrown up her hands in horror had any man attempted openly to make a bargain with any of her girls for anything more than a dance or two, she went conveniently to bed at the end of each night's dancing, and was far too tired to ascertain whether all the girls were back at a virtuous hour in the three rooms they shared at Cusheon's Hotel.

At times, Letty had discovered, it was not easy for a small woman to persuade a much larger man to take no for an answer. But to stay within the walls of the Pioneer Saloon was a reasonable guarantee of safety. Madame Benedine finished her piano-playing with a magnificent, almost a Wagnerian, crescendo. The girls dipped in a mass curtsy. Then Madame herself bowed, and went back to the piano to play a soft and sentimental waltz—an awaited signal that the pleasure they had enjoyed in general could now be had individually, at sixpence a time, with delightful informality.

Into the body of the room the girls came now, and Letty as accustomed to the smell of tobacco, beer, and bodily sweat as the rest of them. She was also as adept as some of them in falling to see any would-be partner who looked too unsteady on his feet, or who betrayed any other sign that might be considered likely to interfere with the measure of the dance. Like the rest of the girls, Letty looked around her with a pleasant smile, but with a degree of caution too.

And then suddenly, without any warning, she found herself standing stock still, the blood draining from her cheeks. For standing not five feet away, a glass of whiskey in his hand and his eyes on the crowd in the saloon, was the man Jake Larrett.

She was not making any mistake. The picture of this man—standing in the wings of the Colonial Theatre on the night that Sadie Ellishaw was killed—had been before her mind too long for that.

The moment for which she had waited so long; for which she had come to the Cariboo; taken Amy Hackett's place as a Hurdy Girl, was here at last! She had expected to feel quick anger for this man. Instead, in the few seconds that she stood there, unobserved by him but watching him closely, she felt strangely calm, and curiously prepared, at last, to put into effect the plans she had made.

She would dance with him. If she could, she would find out where he was sleeping—and go there with him.

Almost as easily as if she were getting ready to teach a class, or take a new dancing pupil, she now addressed herself to the task in front of her.

U.S. Industries Hurry Under Materials Plan

NEW YORK (AP)—Durability of the controlled materials plan machinery is being tested this week by a stampede to get under the C.M.P. umbrella, the Iron Age, metalworking trade weekly, says today.

"Industries" included under C.M.P. are vying for larger shares of basic metals," the publication says. "Those not included are carefully but quickly collecting evidence that they are essential—or at least more so than some who have got the nod from the 'National Production Authority'."

E.C.A. Workers Help Blind Fruit Peddler

WASHINGTON (AP)—A blind Washington fruit dealer is going to get financial help from the Economic Co-operation Administration.

Employees of the Marshall Plan agency, which has given away billions to foreign governments, are collecting $150 of their own money. It will be given to John B. Triplett, who was robbed of $150 after he left his fruit stand in one of the E.C.A. buildings for a few minutes.

Hope In Heart Cases May Live Normal Life

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Heart trouble needn't mean living without tobacco, work, or play—or tough limits on eating—a physician said today.

This plea for a better break from doctors, for heart patients was voiced before the American Medical Association by Dr. Robert L. Levy of New York.

Too often, he said, a person with any heart or circulation trouble is "looked upon as an invalid," regardless of the cause or extent of his ailment. Tobacco commonly is banned for heart patients. But most of them can smoke moderately, he said. It gives them pleasure and an emotional lift.

As for climbing stairs, studies show that doesn't mean much extra work for the heart if people take the steps leisurely.

Most people can keep on at their jobs, and do well, he said.

The sportsman can still play at golf, shooting, fishing, swimming, even tennis. The patient must be "the final judge of his capability."

Father's Fatal Kick

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—An unemployed 22-year-old father confessed he fatally kicked his 15-month-old daughter in a fit of anger while setting up a new stove. Police said Tuesday Charles Huffman kicked Joyce Marie Huffman in the stomach. She died May 28 in hospital. Her death originally was blamed on an accidental fall.
